Ford unlocks treasury, urges buying

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — President Ford today unlocked the U.S. Treasury to fight inflation for the first time since last week's elections and ordered $300 million used to help finance mortgages on existing houses.

The money will come from $3 billion earmarked until now by the Home Purchase Assistance Act only for buying mortgages on new, single-family homes, Ford said in a speech prepared for delivery to a meeting of the National Association of Realtors.

And, answering criticism from Detroit auto makers and other businessmen that his antiinflation calls dampened the public's buying habits, the President called on Americans to buy.

"Instead of curtailing purchases, I say to consumers simply: buy wisely, shop sharper."

Ford also warned, "In the weeks and months ahead, I will call on the American people — and I underline people —to sacrifice for the national good." He said federal spending must be cut and tax revenues upped. But, declaring he is no "prophet of doom," the President said:

"Inflation will be cooled. Despite some economic weakness —recession —business fallback —call it what you will —there will be an upturn in the nation's economic patterns. In fact, here in Las Vegas where it's legal, I'll even bet on it."

Ford did not predict when the economy will make the improvement.

Ford flew from Washington to Las Vegas for an economic speech to the realtors. Later he was flying to Phoenix, Ariz., for a news conference with the Society of Professional Journalists (Sigma Delta Chi) before flying home late tonight.

To the realtors mustered at the Hilton Hotel he talked about the economic ills affecting the nation's housing industry. "The housing industry is suffering the effects of inflation more intensely than most other industries," he said. He said he was doing this:

—Turning 10 per cent of the Home Purchase Assistance Act to used housing. He said this will help buyer and seller.

—Asking Congress to follow his suggestion and appropriate money not only for one-family house buying but also to make it easier to finance rental housing and condominiums.

—Asking Congress to pass a proposed Financial Institutions Act. It would steady credit in house buying and, he said, let banks and savings and loan institutions "compete more effectively during periods of high interest rates," thus aiding home-buyers and earning more money for savers.

The Republican President's words clearly reflected last week's Congressional elections facing him with greater Democratic majorities in the House and Senate.

"The housing industry is suffering the effects of inflation more intensely than most other industries. It is my duty to face unpleasant facts. And it is my responsibility to do something about them —mine and the Congress'. I assure you I will do my part," he said.

2 area youths captured after store robbery

Two youths were captured by police early this morning after robbing an Ontario Stop and Go Market of a small amount of cash and shooting a store clerk at point-blank range.

The youths, one 15 and the other 16, both from Ontario, were taken into custody by Ontario police officers after a short bullet-punctuated chase on Vineyard Avenue about 3:30 a.m.

Stop and Go Market clerk Larry Dean Perryman, 20, of San Bernardino this morning was in Kaiser Hospital in Fontana undergoing surgery for removal of a bullet from his buttocks. He is listed in satisfactory condition.

According to police reports, Officer Lou Holloman was patroling in the area of Fourth Street and Vineyard Avenue about 3:10 this morning when he observed a vehicle parked in front of the Stop and Go Market with its doors open.

Holloman, suspicious of the vehicle, waited in his car and observed two youths running out of the market. One of the youths was carrying what appeared to be a .22 caliber rifle.

Holloman said the youths jumped into the car and drove off at a high rate of speed south on Vineyard Avenue. Holloman, while in pursuit, learned on the police radio of the robbery-shooting at the market. Other police units in the area were alerted and joined in the chase.

Holloman said while he was chasing the vehicle he saw the car door being opened and shut by one of the suspects. Holloman, suspecting that the

Six in family shot to death in their beds

AMITYVILLE, N.Y. (UPI) — Police found six members of a family shot to death Wednesday night in an expensive neighborhood of this quiet Long Island community.

Authorities conducted an allnight investigation to determine whether the deaths were a murder-suicide or were caused by an outsider, but declined to comment on their findings.

The dead were Ronald DeFeo, 43, a car dealer, his 42-year-old wife, Louise, their two teen-age daughters, Dawn, 18, and Allison, 13, and two young sons, Mark, 11, and John, 9.

Ronald DeFeo, Jr., 23, the only surviving member of the family, reached police with an emergency call Wednesday evening to report "multiple slayings" at the family's three-story Dutch colonial house near Great South Bay in a neighborhood where homes range from $50,000 to $100,000.

Police said the victims were found in various second and third floor bedrooms in their nightclothes, dead from "multiple gunshot wounds." Three of the Defeos were shot in the back, two in the head and one in the neck.

About midnight, after about two dozen police had searched the area and taken pictures for more than almost six hours, silent neighbors watched as the canvas shrouded bodies were carried out.

Kathy Nemeth, a 12-year-old friend and neighbor of Allison, said she and her brother were awakened about 3 a.m. Wednesday by the sound of howling dogs. Other neighbors said the family was quiet and friendly.

Police were questioning young Ronald about the incident, but declined to discuss the investigation in any detail. No weapon was recovered, despite a search with a metal detector.

3 dead as first big snowstorm blankets Midwest

By United Press International

A powerful snowstorm —the first of the season —dumped heavy snows across the midlands Wednesday night and early today, glazing highways and touching off a flurry of accidents.

At least three persons died in weather-related traffic mishaps.

Eugene Holmes, 48, of Maywood, Ill., was killed Wednesday when his truck collided with an auto on icy pavement near St. Charles, Ill.

An 18-year-old Iowa youth was killed when he lost control of his car on a snow-slicked highway in northwestern Iowa and struck a truck. A Calumet City, Ill., youth also was killed in a three-car accident late Tuesday in the early hours of the storm in Chicago's southeast suburbs.

A near record 5.4 inches of snow fell on Detroit, the heaviest for this date since 1951. At Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, police were called out Wednesday to disperse a "snowball riot" in which 200-250 students pelted campus buildings. No arrests were made.

Chicago expressways were tangled by multiple-car accidents. One 10-car pileup on the Eisenhower Expressway left one person injured. A 20-car crash on the Illinois Tollway tied up traffic but there were no injuries.

A wide belt of snow clogged the upper Great Lakes Region, stretching from Iowa across Illinois to Indiana and reaching into Michigan and Ohio.

Moline, Ill., reported five inches of snow, four inches piled up in Peru, Ind., and Hancock, Mich., in the upper Peninsula, got eight inches of new snow. Several Iowa cities reported as much as four inches of snow.

The National Weather Service termed the storm the first major snowstorm of the season.

Chicago reported only an inch of snow, but heavier snowfalls were reported in the south and south suburbs. The National Weather Service said four and a half inches of snow was reported in far south suburban Crete.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect today for northern Indiana, southeastern Michigan and northern Ohio.

Another storm dumped three inches of snow on the mountains of Great Smoky National Forest in Tennessee and North Carolina. U.S. 441 running through the park was temporarily closed while the snow was cleared away.

Cold weather dipped into the southern Plains today and freeze warnings were posted for northern Oklahoma and portions of west Texas.

But while the midlands shivered, Southern California enjoyed temperatures in the 80s. The mercury climbed to 86 Wednesday at Los Angeles Civic Center.

Predict UMW council will OK contract

WASHINGTON (UPI) The United Mine Workers' 38-member bargaining council meets tonight to consider whether to recommend rank and file ratification of an agreement on wages, benefits and work rules for 120,000 miners.

Union President Arnold Miller said he expected approval by the bargaining council and the miners.

The agreement between negotiators for the miners and the soft coal mine operators was reached Wednesday night. If approved by the miners in a nationwide ratification vote, coal mines in 25 states — shutdown since midnight Monday —would be back in operation before Thanksgiving.

Following announcement of the agreement, steel companies took the first steps toward canceling cutbacks triggered by the coal miners strike. Republic Steel Corp., which had reduced coke operations 50 per cent when the strike started, canceled the cutback.

Union officials said today a conference of representatives from about 800 union locals will be held Monday in Pittsburgh so that the contract terms can be explained fully before a secret ballot vote is conducted.

Food prices spur whopping hike in wholesale index

WASHINGTON (UPI — Spurred by a 56.4 per cent annual increase in food prices, the wholesale price index rose an adjusted 2.3 per cent in October, signaling worse inflation for consumers in the months ahead, the Labor Department reported today.

The October surge was a big jump from the September increase, whose relatively modest 0.1 per cent increase had caused some administration officials to express hopes that inflationary pressures were easing.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said farm products and processed foods and feeds rose 4.7 per cent in October following a decline in September —an adjusted annual rate of 56.4 per cent.

Translated into an annual rate of increase, the latest figures meant that between November of 1973 and this October wholesale prices rose at an annual rate of 27.6 per cent. Previous to October, the 12-month increase rate was 22.6 per cent, the BLS estimated.

There was some encouraging news in that industrial commodities, which make up two-thirds of the index, rose at approximately the same rate as in September.

The White House admitted for the first time this week that the nation was moving into a recession based on economic figures to be released this month, especially the Gross National Product which will be released Friday. The GNP is expected to be worse than originally reported last month.

Candidates lukewarm to MSAC election delay

A last minute attempt to save taxpayers $55,000 by calling off the special election Jan. 7 of the Mt. San Antonio College District apparently is doomed to failure.

The attempt was made this week by Richard Todd, president of the college board, who sent letters to the 13 candidates in the race to fill a two-month vacancy on the board, asking all of them to withdraw.

Todd said if all the candidates agreed, then the board would name no successor to fill the post of Trustee Lance D. Smith who died last August and whose term runs out in March.

The chairman said he has been informed by the County Counsel's Office that the election might be voided in that way.

However response from the candidates to Todd's suggestion was lukewarm today.

Some candidates flatly refused to drop out, others said it was too late, and still others indicated they might consider Todd's proposal but only if everybody else withdrew.

Charles Hall of Diamond Bar, the first to file for election, said he was "appalled to receive the letter." He said such action was "typical of the board's efforts to flout the will of the people."

And Ron Boran of West Covina said $55,000 "doesn't seem to be too much to pay for the preservation of the democratic system of government."

But Jim Popovich, a Pomona public relations man, said he felt Todd's proposal was "commendable; too bad it's too late. I don't think it is garbage to consider the cost of the election. If he had made his proposal known earlier, it might have worked."

His view seemed to be shared by about half the candidates.

Still others, like Rodney Davis, a La Verne College professor, expressed ambivalence, wondering "why such an option was not made available to the candidates before." He said that if the people wanted an election, the price of democracy often ran high but it was worth it.

Todd said he had checked with other board members by telephone before he wrote the letter and they agreed to its merit.

In the letter, the college board chairman said that the cost of the election for a two-month office was "an irresponsible waste of the taxpayers money."

He pointed out that the office would end March 31. On March 4 there would be an election to fill three vacancies on the board, including Smith's.

It was the second time the board had sought to void the special election to save the $55,000 cost.

Board member William Temple had earlier expressed hope that only one candidate would file so that there would be no contest. After the second candidate filed, he said he hoped someone could talk one of the candidates out of running.

Nixon, pale and weak, quits hospital

The former president was helped from a wheelchair into a black limousine at a back service door at Long Beach Memorial and drove off with his wife, Pat, to San Clemente, a 60-mile drive down the coast.

A panel of three prominent doctors, appointed by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, made plans, meanwhile, to conduct their examination of Nixon at his oceanfront home — probably sometime next week.

Nixon, clad in pajamas and a dark blue robe, was assisted to his feet and he stood shakily as he turned around to shake hands with nurses and others who had treated him during his time in the hospital.

Before being assisted into the limousine, Nixon patted his personal physician, Dr. John Lungren, on the back and then sat down beside Mrs. Nixon in the car driven by a Secret Service agent.

Surgery prevents Mehta's appearance

Zubin Mehta, conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic, underwent minor surgery early this week and was unable to conduct a concert in Bridges Auditorium of the Claremont Colleges Wednesday night He also missed a concert in Santa Barbara Tuesday.

The India-born music director has left the hospital and is reported in excellent condition. He will conduct a concert in Pasadena tonight and lead the orchestra on its western tour starting next week.

Planners okay apartment home ownership proposal

The Westwood Apartments on San Bernardino Avenue changed Wednesday night from rental units to condominiums.

The transition resulted when the Pomona Planning Commission approved a conditional use permit and several variances.

The development, located north of San Bernardino Avenue between Bennett Way and Appleton Way, contains 34 structures — each containing three rental units — for a total of 102.

At present, each triplex structure is owned by individuals. In the new plan, each of the 102 residential units will be offered for sale.

In a report to the commission, Planner Herbert A. Sorensen said there were no plans for any physical changes and the statement action would only allow the individual apartment units to be sold separately rather than as triplexes.

"This change would permit a gradual shift from a rental development to an ownership development and could result in a greater stability in the resident population," he added.

Robert Armstrong, the applicant, asked that the proposed use is necessary to allow owners to sell individual units the same as any other planned unit development.

"It is certainly hope that will be the only single story planned unit development in Pomona and is viewed with pride by both the community and the city."

During the public hearing, a concern arose about the transition period of the development changing from rental to home ownership.

In reply, Armstrong said the total transition would take several years to complete. There are presently some units which are vacant and they will be sold first.

"The proposal is to make attractive offers to those people presently living there," he said.

Irma Sanders, one of the tenants, asked Armstrong what the tenants would be offered in the way of purchase terms. Armstrong answered that buyers would be offered a good price for the units. "If these units were to be sold today, I'm sure they could not be sold at the price they will be offered at."

She predicted a "good many" tenants will take advantage of the units offered for sale. "The tenants will not be put out on the street," said Mrs. Sanders.

Variances approved by the commission included a reduction in open space required, side yard requirements, storage areas and parking.

Airport master plan study hits snag in county

SAN BERNARDINO (CNS) — The Board of Supervisors has postponed for a week a request to enter negotiations for a $27,000 master plan study for the Chino Airport after Supervisor Daniel D. Mikesell said he believes the county should already have such a plan.

Mikesell said he recalled that at one time the county employed a person to conduct master plan studies for all the county airports and said he did not want another study made if one already existed.

The proposal was taken to task by Supervisor Dena Hansmeyer, who contended that there was no justification provided for the study. "All we have is a request for a study. No one has given us any reason why it should be made, and I'm not going to go for it unless I see some justification," Hansmeyer said.

In other matters relating to the Chino Airport the board approved payment of $4,770 to the Al Chas Reese Co. for fencing relocation on Kimball Avenue in connection with the clear zone for the airport.

The board also approved payment of $6,020 to the D. K. Morris Construction Co. for runway relocations on Kimball Avenue again in connection with the clear zone for the airport.

3-day display, auction

Antique show opens Friday

A three-day regional antique show, sale and auction will be staged at the Pomona Mall East beginning Friday.

The show, sponsored by Pomona mall merchants and property owners, organized into a non-profit group with the name Heritage Square, is expected to attract leading antique dealers from all over Southern California.

Approximately 35 dealers will offer a wide variety of antique items in the Heritage Square event, located in the 200 block of Pomona Mall East.

The event will be open to the public at no charge from 10:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and from 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday. Free parking is available.

Special events during the show will include an all-time record concert on Saturday at noon by Bill Carr, collector of antique talking machines.

Also on Saturday afternoon, artists from the Pomona Valley Art Association will have a showing on the mall.

Sunday's featured event will be a 11 a.m. auction of antique automobiles.

Antique automobiles will be on display throughout the event, provided by local car clubs and businesses.

Refreshments will be available at several locations during the show and free parking within easy walking distance will be provided.

"If the show is successful, and Booth is confident that it will be, a regular antique center for the Pomona and San Gabriel valleys will become a permanent fixture on the Pomona Mall.

"This is a concerted effort to bring back to the people of the valley a consciousness of their city — a city with a future," said Booth.

Council honors official who has taken new post

Terry L. James, Walnut's assistant city manager who has resigned, was honored Wednesday by the Walnut City Council.

The council presented a resolution to Mr. James which cited James was commended for demonstrating "superior ability to install irrigation lines and spread lawn fertilizer, no little task."

In a room across the hall, Mayor Lee Dyer then presented James with a plaque and expressed the council's appreciation for the outstanding work he has done while assistant city manager for the past three years. James will become assistant city manager for Orosi.

In other action the council approved a resolution calling for sewer lines to be installed on the east and west approaches to Vejar Road at Gartman Road and on the east and west approaches on Vejar Road at Brazee Avenue.

The council then gave approval to a public hearing to be held on Dec. 11 at 8 p.m. in the council chambers to ascertain whether the residents of Walnut would like to underground utility district established on the west side of Grand Avenue from Temple Avenue to Valley Boulevard.

If approved, the resolution would call for the removal of poles and overhead wire and structures. The wires would then be installed underground.

Funds for the project would be provided by the county. County Supervisor Peter Schabarum announced previously that $335,000 from the county portion of undistributed funds will be set aside for the project, as soon as the city approves the project.

During the meeting, Larry Ross, from the Southern California Edison Co., was present to answer council questions on why Edison rates in Walnut were higher than the rates paid by neighboring cities.

Ross explained that Walnut was a one-five area because of its "low density per square mile and that when Edison began to serve 46 customers per mile instead of the 49 customers per mile that it is presently serving, the rates would be lowered."

Zone rates, Ross added, are determined by the state Public Utility Commission and that the ruling given a specific city is reviewed on a yearly basis.

In other action the council:

— Approved a plan to call for bids on trimming trees throughout the city.

— Accepted the list of the records of the state of Lemon Creek Historical Park master plan.

New program channels 200 problem youths to agencies

A two-man team representing the Pomona Valley Juvenile Diversion Project was interviewed Wednesday to explain the need, purpose and function of the program.

Larry Ross, project director, Claremont City Councilman Frank Haggerty, chairman of the project board, Dr. Verne Poirier, D. D. F. Griggs, chairman of the advisory committee, and Ken Dressler, community worker, explained their role in the program to members of the Claremont Coordinating Council meeting at Tower Hall, Claremont.

Dressler said that of the teen-agers in serious cases in Claremont who have been helped to be free of possession of narcotics and on many drugs, and have been diverted from the juvenile justice system to agencies able to deal with such problems.

Ross explained that in the five communities of Pomona, Claremont, San Dimas, La Verne, and the county territory of Diamond Bar 200 youths have been diverted already since the project began operating in July.

Ross said the ultimate the scope of the project is limited because of the amount of funds made available, however, if the community should become involved.

Ross said that 75 per cent of the time is spent in organizing some basic social programs through agencies which are now in operation to help youth and with youth.

Ross explained the system for the home, community crisis center diversion coordinators are now employed to work with youth who have gotten into serious trouble.

Griggs said the traditional system of having the youth to court doesn't work well. "Juvenile diversion may not be the best answer, but we believe it is better than the old way," he said.

Hagerty said that local service agencies don't have enough money to operate, and that the project is a means of getting funds to the agency which is doing a good job.

Award-winning TV writer to be Press Club speaker

Jon McGreevey, Emmy award-winning television writer, will speak at the meeting of the Press Club of Southern California Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Claremont Indian Hill Restaurant in Claremont.

McGreevey's topic will be "The Changing Picture for the Television Writer." He will discuss the impact of the country's social changes in screen content and television programming and the task of the writer in reflecting these changes.

A television writer for more than 20 years, McGreevey has had more than 300 of his scripts aired.

The meeting is open to press club members and guests. Reservations may be made with Margo Gross, 965-3311; Mary Rendlemen, 624-1001; and Judy Hamerton, 965-4811.

Mixed reaction from officials of 14 states

Ford plan would hike offshore oil and gas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Ford administration has told top officials of 14 states it wants to drill the unleased area of U.S. coasts used for oil and gas drilling. The proposal got a mixed reaction.

President Ford and Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton outlined the plan to governors, governors-elect and lieutenant governors of 14 states at a White House meeting Wednesday.

Ford told them: "We must adopt vigorous conservation measures, but it is clear that, regardless of what conservation steps we take and what eventual long-range energy policy we adopt, in the near term we must increase our domestic production of oil and gas.

"I believe that the Outer Continental Shelf oil and gas deposits can provide the largest source of increased domestic energy during the years when we need it the most."

Morton announced a five-year leasing plan at a rate of one tract for every two months through 1979, including "frontier areas" in the Alaskan Gulf and the Atlantic offshore region never before drilled for oil and gas.

"The Outer Continental Shelf represents the best type of significantly increasing domestic production of oil and gas," Morton said.

By tripling the current rate of 3 million acres a year, he said, the United States can reduce its reliance on high-priced imported oil and protect itself against the possibility of another Arab oil embargo.

Both men assured governors no area would be leased if it threatened too much harm to the environment.

"I'm disturbed ... with what the impact will be on my state," said Gov. Brendan Byrne of New Jersey, a Democrat, after the meeting.

He said much more needs to be learned about the risks of drilling offshore and the impact on the economies of states through the development of related businesses.

Gov.-Elect Hugh Carey of New York agreed and said he fears the oil development might cause many ports without solving energy problems.

But Gov. Edwin Edwards of Louisiana said offshore drilling "is absolutely essential" to national security and the economy because "we cannot continue to pour money into the Arab nations."

Offshore oil and production from Alaska could "make us almost self-sufficient," he contended.

A U.S. Senate National Ocean Policy study released Wednesday by Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., said offshore drilling could bring major changes to coastal area economies.

"One of the major findings is that the impact from drilling is far more serious to the coastal communities than any damage likely to the coastal waters and beaches from an oil spill," Hollings said.

He urged help for states in planning for the economic changes.

Ford rebukes--doesn't fire--general for statement about Jews' influence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford summoned Chairman George S. Brown of the Joint Chiefs of Staff into the Oval Office today and rebuked him for saying publicly that Jews have too much influence in the United States.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters aboard Air Force One en route to Las Vegas, Nev., that Ford, who is fully aware of the public reaction to that," met with Brown for 15 minutes before leaving on a trip to the West.

Ford did not fire Brown, the nation's top military man, and Brown did not tender his resignation, Nessen said.

"I know of no plans for him not to continue," Nessen said.

Nessen said it would not be "proper" for him to reveal the exact words with the President used with Brown. But he said they reflected the core of the White House statement Wednesday, which described Brown's remarks as "illadvised and poorly worded."

Asked by reporters if the President "rebuked" Brown during their meeting, Nessen replied, "I wouldn't discourage you from saying that."

In addition to the reprimand, Brown faces calls for his ouster from Jewish organizations and cries of outrage from Capitol Hill.

In answer to a question on the possibility of U.S. intervention against Arab oil producers, Brown had said the specter of suffering by Americans from another oil boycott could lead to them "getting aggressive enough to set down the Jewish influence in this country and break that down."

He said, "Jewish influence in this country ... is so strong, you wouldn't believe," and that Jews "own, you know, the banks in this country, the newspapers. You just look where the Jewish money is in this country."

Wednesday, Brown said he regretted those comments.

Dore Stern, honorary chairman of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, said Brown's remarks "are not only false but contemptible and have the illiberal odor of prejudice and malice."

Stern, in a letter to Ford, suggested Brown's "irresponsible statements make him unfit for his responsible position ... and that he should be removed by you forthwith."

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Brown proved "an appalling ignorance" and called for his resignation.

Israel fears destruction

U.N. split on Palestine issue

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Arab guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat debated New York today on Cuba, seeing action in United Nations deeply divided over the issues of Palestine and an Israeli fear of its eventual destruction at the hands of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Arafat, in a military speech to the General Assembly, in which he was accorded honors of a visiting chief of state, called for creation of a Palestine in which Jews, Arabs and Christians could live side by side. Israel says that means destruction of the Jewish state.

With the so-called "Third Force" expressing a more and more pro-Arab stance in the General Assembly, diplomatic sources said there was an increasing threat that Israel might even be expelled from the current UN session as was South Africa.

Hits Dems' dilly-dallying

Will never qualify for sainthood--Rocky backer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican Whip Robert P. Griffin interrupted Nelson A. Rockefeller's confirmation hearing today to charge that Democrats had been "dilly-dallying" because they feared Rockefeller would be "too good a vice president."

The Michigan senator said Rockefeller had "made a mistake or two in his public life" and had willingly admitted it.

"None of us will ever qualify for sainthood," Griffin said.

But the Democrats have created an aura of the realization that people, he said, are taken in regard to the operations of the 25th Amendment. The amendment provides for filling a vice presidential vacancy by presidential nomination and congressional confirmation.

Committee Chairman Robert W. Garner, D-Miss., announcing in usual mild manner, replied that he resented Griffin's "implication that this committee has not been diligent" in acting on the nomination.

Garner said the FBI's final report on Rockefeller was not received until Nov. 4 and Rockefeller's report on his personal contributions of $135 million was not received until March.

Griffin said the "too-druggert" were no concerned that Rockefeller would be a bad vice president "but that he will be too good a vice president" and —he implied —a threat to Democratic success in the 1976 presidential election.

He said the 25th Amendment's operations had produced both Rockefeller and President Ford — "two of the finest, most qualified public servants in the American scene."

But because of Democratic "dilly-dallying," he said, Ford is going to leave for Japan this week "without a vice president on hand and in office to mind the store."

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, W. Va., the Democratic whip, said he regretted Ford was leaving the country "even a vice president is sworn in. But the committee has not dragged its feet, he said. "It is taking time, it has taken time."

The exchange came while Rockefeller was at the witness table for the second day of his renewed hearings. They have focused on his involvement in the publication of a book critical of his former political opponent, Arthur Goldberg.

youths were living at home, one in a trailer, located in the window and fired one shot at the living youth. The youths pulled over, but remained in the vehicle.

Officers reported that the suspects had to be forcibly removed from the car.

Officers said that about half of the money taken in the robbery was recovered along with a .22 caliber rifle.

Police said that the youths, while being arrested by Holdeman and other officers, were opening the car door and throwing out some of the money taken in the robbery.

Perryman later told officers that he was in the back room of the store. He returned to the front and found one youth standing behind the cash register and another near the drug counter waiting for him. Perryman said that the youths asked him who else was in the store. Perryman, suspicious of the youths, told them that the manager was in the back room.

He said the youths told him they didn't believe him, and one pulled a rifle up from behind the counter. Perryman said he was ordered to lie face down on the floor while the witness rifled the cash register.

Perryman said that a minute before the robbers fled, one pointed the rifle at him and pulled the trigger. Holdeman reported that he heard no shot from inside of the store.

Report released on My Lai coverup

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A long-suppressed investigation of the My Lai massacre shows that 28 officers and two enlisted men participated in covering up the killing of between 175 and 400 civilians in the Vietnamese village.

Portions of the investigation headed by Lt. Gen. William R. Peers were released Wednesday by the Army, more than 4½ years after it was finished and marked secret to prevent it might have prejudiced the court-martial of soldiers accused in the massacre and coverup.

Only 14 officers were initially charged in the coverup. Of those, only one, Lt. Col. Oran K. Henderson, ever received court-martial, and he was acquitted.

Former Lt. William L. Calley Jr., the only man convicted of the massacre itself, was originally accused of killing 109 Vietnamese and eventually convicted of murdering "no less than 22."

"The precise number of Vietnamese killed cannot be ascertained, but was at least 175 and may exceed 400," the report said.

"The massacre resulted primarily from the failure of the chain of command within Task Force Barker," headed by Lt. Col. Frank A. Barker, the report continued.

It said Barker, field commander of the My Lai operation who was killed in combat three months later, "planned, ordered and actively directed the execution of an unlawful operation." The report said Maj. Charles C. Calhoun, Capt. Eugene M. Kotouc and Capt. Ernest L. Medina aided in the planning.

But the report also blamed higher officers up to and including a two-star general, Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, for failing to "insure that the basic ... concepts governing the handling, evacuation and treatment of the noncombatant population" during March 16, 1968, week of My Lai.

Koster was never tried, the Army said, because there was insufficient evidence. But the Army did censure Koster, reprimand him and record an entry be received in Vietnam.

Two civilians were also implicated. The report said Capt. Carl E. Creswell reported what he knew to Lt. Col. Francis A. Lewis but that he failed to report it up well through military channels. Lewis was accused of limiting his action to "informal discussion with various staff officers."

Army Secretary Howard H. Callaway said two of the report's five volumes are still secret because they contain investigative material "many of them quite inflammatory, many of them without merit."

Fog's effect felt slightly in valley

A mass of fog that brought heavy fog to areas of Los Angeles this morning was small in it will cause only a slight dip in the present rainy conditions.

A total of 11 planes were diverted from Los Angeles International Airport to Ontario because of the fog that closed the Los Angeles airport at 4:30a. today.

Forecaster Wes Tutt of the National Weather Service said the storm may bring windy conditions that will bring temperatures down to the 50s here but no rainfall is associated.

Wednesday's afternoon maximum temperature of 69 degrees was 19 degrees above normal for the month of November. Friday's high is expected to be 63 degrees with temperatures near 0 throughout the weekend, the weatherman said.

GM plants closing down

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UPI) — General Motors Corp. will shut down its plant here for one week Monday, idling 1,675 workers.

A GM spokesman said Wednesday the temporary shutdown was due to declining car sales. The plant is scheduled to resume production the week of Nov. 25, which will be a three-day work week because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Production will also be suspended at GM plants in Willow Run, Mich. and Tarrytown, N.Y. More than 1,200 workers at the Van Nuys plant were laid off indefinitely last week.

Chrysler and Ford motor companies also closed down plants this week. After next week's GM shutdown, industrywide layoffs will total 76,450.

YOUTH, 17, CONVICTED OF MURDERS

TORRANCE (UPI) — Sentencing was set for Dec. 4 for Jesse Henry Jr., 17, who was convicted Wednesday of two murders in connection with a series of shootings and robberies last May 7.

Superior Court Judge Burch Donahue handed down the ruling after a one-day trial in which Henry was also convicted of one count of robbery.

Lucile Price, 36, was shot outside her Inglewood home, and John M. Aguilar of Hollywood, was shot to death in Echo Park.

Police said Henry, his 15-year-old brother and a 14-year-old friend beat Mrs. Price, shot her, and drove off in her car. They then robbed another man, Willie C. Milner, 42, as he used a public telephone in downtown Los Angeles police said. Milner was not injured.

Authorities said Aguilar was robbed of about $20 and shot to death in Echo Park a short time later.

Henry and the two other youths were arrested when Mrs. Price's car was found on the Golden State Freeway. The other two teen-agers, who were not identified, are serving terms in California Youth Authority facilities.

Artificial lung

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A newly developed artificial lung that provides oxygen to the blood of patients with acute respiratory failure is being tested at two hospitals here.

The membrane oxygenator is used to treat patients who develop lung failure as a result of massive injuries or other causes. Many of these patients die from lung failure.

Networks ask tapes coverage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The three major radio and television networks have asked U. S. District Judge John J. Sirica to change his mind and let them broadcast White House tapes introduced as evidence in the Watergate cover-up trial.

Sirica rejected their request before the trial began, citing traditional rules against broadcasting trials from the courtroom.

The networks —ABC, CBS and NBC—and the Radio-Television News Directors Association, followed up Wednesday with a written reqsest to Sirica to reconsider.

"The case your honor is now in the midst of trying may well be more important, in a wide variety of ways, than any trials ever before conducted in the history of this nation," they said.

The networks said they would not be broadcasting the trial itself but only evidence, much as newspapers print photographs and documentary evidence.

"It would, quite simply, permit the public to become far better informed about this trial and about the issues that have convulsed this nation since the Watergate break-in in June, 1972," they said.

They said denying their request would be "a prior restraint on freedom of the press" and probably unconstitutional.

Mortician sentenced on arson charges

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (UPI) — A mortician was sentenced to two to 20 years in prison Wednesday for seting fire to rival funeral homes.

Frank Tillie Jr., 59, pleaded guilty to two counts of arson, and five other counts involving arson were dismissed.

Inflation boosts state treasury

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Inflation, which has taken a heavy toll on household budgets, has provided an unexpected $100 million for the state treasury.

State Finance Director Verne Orr Tuesday said the $100 million in extra revenue received during the first four months of the current fiscal year was the result of soaring prices.

The $100 million is in addition to the previously reported $400 million budget surplus expected at the end of this fiscal year.

Orr said added sales tax revenues accounted for about $40 million of the unexpected treasury income, and business and corporation taxes produced another $40 million. The remainder came from a variety of other tax sources.

1st dark horse

James Knox Polk of Tennessee was the first "dark horse" candidate in American political history to receive the presidential nomination. Polk, a compromise candidate of the Democratic party, was nominated on the eighth ballot after a deadlock developed between former president Martin Van Buren and Lewis Cass.

The finance chief cautioned that because revenues are up for the July through October period, there should be no attempt to project a four-month $100 million figure into an annual $300 million expetation.

"There can be a lot of changes between now and the end of the year," Orr warned, "but we think we will probably keep the $100 million through the end of the year."

He took bus, left driving to himself

Police said Dahl, 27, hopped on an empty Southern California Rapid Transit District bus while the driver was having lunch, and went for a ride.

In his spree, he smashed into three parked cars, uprooted a traffic sign, hit the corner of a building and crashed through a fence before coming to a stop against a utility pole.

Dahl was arrested on suspicion of grand theft, misdemeanor drunk driving and

Valley woman to plan regional NAACP fete

Gertha Speiginer, president of the Pomona Valley branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has been selected chairwoman of the 1975 banquet committee, Southern Area Conference NAACP.

Her selection was unaimous at the quarterly meeting of the Southern Area Conference this past week in Santa Maria.

The meeting, hosted by the new Santa Maria-Lompoc branch of the civil rights organization, had the theme of "Save the Children" and dealt with educational problems, gang crises and drug and alcohol abuse.

In her new role, the Pomona woman will coordinate all planning and events for the banquet to be held the first week of September 1975. The first committee meeting will be held Nov. 30 and an organizational chart will be approved at that time.

"I don't have any particular location in mind for the affair," said Mrs. Speiginer. "The final decision on location will be made by the entire conference. We want to have a huge place because we're aiming for the stars this times. There were approximately 300 persons at the first banquet. We're aiming for more than 1,000 this time with the combined efforts of all the branches in the Southern Area."

There are approximately 33 branches in the total conference that takes in the Southern California region.

In addition to this position, Mrs. Speiginer serves as program chairwoman and fire vice president for the Southern Area Conference.

Dr. Eve Clark, educational chairwoman of the Hollywood-Beverly Hills NAACP branch, and Ruby Williams, president of the Pasadena branch, will assist Mrs. Speiginer.

Charles Carter, treasurer of the Southern Area Conference, will chair the finance committee for the banquet. This committee will have the responsibility of receiving and disbursing donations and printing and disbursement of tickets and invitations.

Dr. Clark, Dr. Lulu Mae Clemmons, director of special projects for desegregation of Riverside schools, and Daniel Tabor, a 19-year-old student from Inglewood, will be in charge of the committee for program speakers and entertainment.

Mrs. Williams will coordinate the hospitality committee which will deal with table arrangements, decorations and hostess activity.

JAMES T. JOHNSON JR.

Valley school chief named to adviser role

James T. Johnson Jr., superintendent of schools in the Bonita district, has been selected to serve on the advisory committee for educational services of the Far West Laboratory for Educational Development in San Francisco.

The laboratory was created in 1966 and is funded primarily by grants from the Office of Education and the Institute for Research. The primary purpose of the newly created advisory committee is to attempt to find ways and make the services of the lab more accessible to school districts and universitites.

According to Johnson, the lab is basically a research and evaluation institution. It has worked on such problems as the use of parents in the instruction process, early childhood education and the use of media and educational TV. The lab has, Johnson says, employed experts in the field of research and evaluation which are otherwise unavailable to individual districts.

Thief surely cold-hearted

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — It took a cold-hearted thief to swipe Mary Rickenbacker's 40-gallon hot water tank.

Mrs. Rickenbacker discovered the tank missing after she came home recently all set for a hot shower.

"When I went to the basement and found it gone, I couldn't believe it," she said.

Police told her the chances of recovering the tank were about as good as being scalded in her cold shower.

"They said something like a water tank just never shows up," she said.

Controlling inflation: many ideas, little agreement

By ROBERT DASELER
P-B Staff Writer

The 19th-Century Scottish essayist and historian, Thomas Carlyle, described economics as "the dismal science," and few people who have heard the predictions economists are making today would take strong objection to Carlyle's adjective.

A sampling of opinions of economics in the valley by the Progress-Bulletin reveals disagreement on a number of issues but a consensus on one prediction: inflation is not going to go away quickly.

Unemployment, most of the economists also agree, is likely to get worse before it gets better.

Only a couple of the nine economists interviewed expressed any confidence in the anti-inflation program proposed by President Gerald Ford. There were even suggestions that Ford's proposals could make things worse rather than better.

Even those economists who think that there is merit in Ford's recommendation of a tax surcharge indicate that they don't believe that the President has gone far enough in the right direction.

"What we have to do is decide how we are going to distribute the pain," says James Likens of Pomona College. "There is a variety of ways that we can take the pain. One is inflation."

David Smyth of the Claremont Graduate School has concluded that, despite the continuing inflation, the nation has entered a recession. He adds that the country's economic ills can be relatively easily treated, but he does not consider President Ford's proposals adequate.

"I think you're going to get a situation where people are more and more uncertain about the future, and you're likely to end up with panic measures which will make things worse."

Smyth does not support President Ford's surcharge proposal, maintaining that consumers have developed long-range expectations and that the temporary surcharge will only make people raise their expectations instead of cutting down on their spending.

Smyth would cut back on defense spending and eliminate a number of government subsidies, but he would not recommend the imposition of wage and price controls.

"I think realistically one must forecast a high rate of inflation," Smyth says.

The economists surveyed agree that the causes of the current inflation are numerous and complex, but they have different opinions about where to place the most blame.

Smyth believes that the current inflation was created by President Lyndon Johnson's war policy and his refusal to finance the war with higher taxes. Smyth also asserts that the inflationary trend was abetted by the Nixon administration and by expectations of consumers.

Smyth at Claremont Graduate School does not support either the tax increase or the wage and price controls. He says he would place a 20-cent per gallon tax on gasoline instead of raising personal income taxes.

Likens also places the blame on the financing of the Vietnam War and expectations. He also blames "the severe dislocations" created by the fuel crisis. Like Smyth, too, Likens says that President Nixon's "erratic" economic behavior exacerbated the problem.

On the other hand, Proctor Thomson, a professor at Claremont Men's College, places the entire blame for inflation upon the Federal Reserve Board, which has, he asserts, been feeding too much money into the system through its Open Market Committee.

Another professor at Claremont Men's College, Harold McClelland, argues that the competitive mechanism of the market has been blunted, allowing a large imbalance to develop. By maintaining the prices of certain items like milk at an artificially high level, the federal government has been encouraging inflation, McClelland says.

Valley man is indicted in estate tax return case

The Federal Grand Jury in Los Angeles has returned an indictment against Patrick H. Ridenour, 57-year-old La Verne man charged with filing "a false and fraudulent" federal estate tax return on the estate of his deceased wife, Edna Mae, according to U.S. Atty. William D. Keller.

Ridenour, 3530 Damien Ave., is vice president in charge of international operations of Jelco Inc. of Salt Lake City. The company is engaged in the construction of electric power transmission lines all over the world.

The indictment charges that Ridenour filed a false and fraudulent estate tax return in which he underestimated his wife's assets by more than $50,000.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Julian Greenspun, who is in charge of the case, said Ridenour's is the first estate tax case to be prosecuted in the Los Angeles district in 20 years. It is likely, he said, that there will be more such prosecutions in the future because the Internal Revenue Service is placing greater emphasis now on examination of estate tax returns.

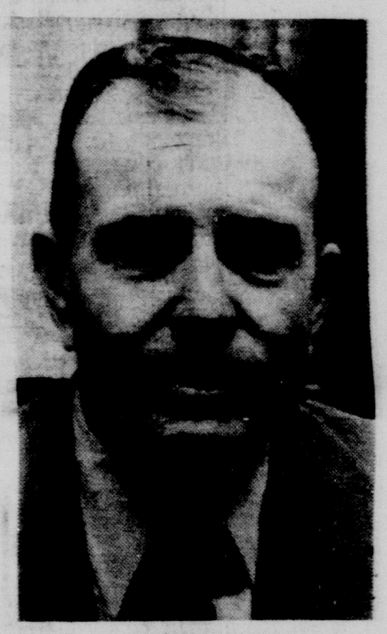
McCord to talk at Poly about Watergate role

James McCord, the Watergate burglar and ex-CIA agent, will speak at the Cal Poly Union at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Friday.

McCord, convicted for the scandal-generating break-in at the Democratic headquarters in the Watergate offices in Washington, D.C., will discuss his involvement in political espionage. His talk will be in the multipurpose room twice on Friday before students, faculty, and the public.

McCord has written a book, "A Piece of Tape," in which he presents his version of the events which resulted eventually in the resignation of President Richard M. Nixon, the man whom McCord was working to re-elect when he particpated in a scheme to tap the telephones of Democratic National Chariman Lawrence O'Brien and other Democratic officials.

Tickets for the 2 p.m. speech are on sale for $1 each. Tickets for the 8 p.m. presentation cost $2 each. Tickets may be purchased at the University Union Business Office.



LYNN ROUNTREE

School official named to role in association

Lynn Roundtree, assistant superintendent of personnel services in Pomona schools, has been appointed chairman of the Association of California School Administrators (ACSA) Professional Preparation and Credentials Committee.

The appointment was made by ACSA President Ronald Johnson.

This is one of eight ACSA committees. It is made up of pubilc and private school and university and college representatives.

Currently the committee is focusing attention on implementation of the Ryan Act, a new licensing law for teachers, and is offering suggestions to the Commission for Teacher Preparation and Licensing which was appointed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

College students preparing to teach became involved in a new program in September. Greater emphasis now is being placed on the various educational disciplines, Rountree said, and the requirement that all high school teachers now must take training in the field of reading.

Open house to be held at retarded school, shop

An open house will be held by the Ontario-Pomona Association for Retarded Children (OPARC) on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the OPARC Day School, 9160 Monte Vista Ave., Montclair, and Diversified Industries, 534 W. Brooks St., Ontario.

Everyone is invited to see the facilities and become acquainted with people who are learning to work with their abilities and disabilities," Mat Castellaw, president of the OPARC board of directors, said. "We have selected this date in keeping with National Retarded Citizens Month."

OPARC was started by five parents 24 years ago. For the past 14 years it has served as a member agency of the United Way.

OPARC's present services include programs which accommodate the different developmental levels of persons age six months throughout adulthood. Because education is an on-going process for children and parents alike, OPARC provides a program to train parents in methods of stimulating and strengthening the developmental processes in their babies. The children may in some instances not be able to swallow, hold up their heads or focus their eyes.

The consultant for this program is Mrs. Allan Cook of Diamond Bar. The head teacher is Mrs. Veronica Blake of Fontana, and the assistant teacher is Mrs. Wiley Butler of Montclair. The class and special sensory stimulation techniques of this program may be seen between 9 a.m. and 11 a.m .Saturday at the OPARC Center.

"Many of the babies gain sufficient strength and skills to be promoted into the OPARC kindergarten or public school facilities," said Mrs. Dick Doesburg of Chino, day school principal.

Kindergarten classes focus on self-help skills, appropriate socialization, speech, letter and number concepts and problem solving. Mrs. Lawrence Corrigan of Alta Loma is teacher and Mrs. Rex Beer of La Verne is the assistant. Class hours on Saturday are 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The primary class, conducted by Mrs. Charles Gerard of Upland, continues the self-help skills speech training, motor-sensory development, social skills, readiness for public school, and community awareness. Primary class may be seen from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m .

Also, the OPARC Center has a family life class for adults who are disabled. This class is sponsored in part by Chaffey College. The program is designed to provide training in independent living skills, leisure time activities, and community development. It is taught by Mrs. Lawrence Israel of Ontario, Mrs. Phyllis Kushin of Montclair, Mrs. Berton Hall of Cucamonga, and Mrs. Dennis Buchholz of Montclair. For open house the class is baking cookies and will help serve between 1 and 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Mrs. Mary H. Boyd, executive director of the OPARC Day School and the workshop, Diversified Industries, stated that the adults' participation is part of their socialization and community involvement. "The aim of all of OPARC's programs is the individual's participation in the mainstream of tax-supported services in the commuinty and employment for adults."

In 1973, 11 children went to public schools, one child to normal class, two children to educable class, nine to multihandicapped programs, and one to a program for learning disabilities. From Diversified Industries, 10 people were placed in outside employment, four adults went to trade schools, and two went on to college.

Diversified Industries is a transitional work training and employment program which utilizes subcontract production as the means to develop work skills income and employment for the disabled.

As these people work, they refine their techniques and continue to develop skills as workers which are valuable to businessmen who need the source for subcontracting all or portions of their work. The client-employes at Diversified Industries will conduct all tours during open house.

The workshop program has been enriched by the vocational skills classes sponsored by Chaffey College and the Baldy View Regional Occupational Program. Presently, Diversified Industries is in the third year of a four-year grant from the department of rehabilitation. The grant has provided funds for significant packaging and other equipment and a portion of salaries for four staff members.

Seniors given deadline for college testing

High School seniors in the Chaffey Union High School District, who are planning to attend college have until next Monday to apply for the next American College Testing assessment.

For entrance into any college in the University of California system, and many other four-year colleges, the test and the Scholastic Apptitude Test are required.

The final SAT will be given Dec. 7, for a fee of $6.50. Students planning to take this test must be registered.

The next ACT, which costs $11, will be given Dec. 14 at Chaffey High School. Four later tests will be administered Jan. 27, March 31 and May 19.

MSAC vet club plans car rally

Members of the Mt. San Antonio College Veteran's Club will sponsor an E.T.O. Car rally 3 Saturday at 1 a.m. in the school parking lot.

Trophies will be awarded to drivers and navigators who finish first, second and third places. Tickets for the rally are $3.

BIG BIKE RACE

YMCA branches to conduct 22-mile bike-a-thon Dec. 15

Sponsors are being sought for Pomona Valley YMCA's 22-mile bike-a-thon scheduled Dec. 15.

YMCA branches of Pomona, Claremont, San Dimas, La Verne and the Y's Outreach program already are making plans to sponsor the event in conjunction with In and Out Burgers.

Persons may participate if they can obtain sponsors to pledge money for each mile ridden, says YMCA General Director Larry Woods.

"The course is mostly flat and people will be surprised at how far on the 22-mile course they will be able to ride," he added.

The bike-a-thon will go on Arrow Highway, Bonita Avenue and Covina Boulevard, between Indian Hill Boulevard in Claremont and Barranca Avenue in Covina. There will be eight check points for riders, with three being at In and Out Burgers. A number of prizes will be available to those competing.

Riders of all ages may compete. Persons can sponsor riders for 5, 10, and 25 cents, or $1 a mile.

A special feature of the bike-a-thon is that anyone who obtains $10 or more per mile in sponsorships, rides the entire course and turns in the money by Dec. 30 will win a new 10-speed bike.

All donations will go to the Y. Persons wishing to ride in the event may call 623-6433 to register.

REWARD

For recovery of white, medium length hair cat believed to be on NORTH GAREY AVE. above FOOTHILL. Wearing red collar and flea collar. Very light gray spot between ears. Please Contact 622-1063 or evenings & weekends 593-5215.

Victors need not chortle

The salient feature is his selectivity.

This may seem a surprising statement in the face of the Democratic landslide, especially in the congressional races. And it seems to have been true that where there was little to distinguish except their party labels, voters tended to choose the Democrat. Call it "Watergate factor."

Yet there were enough exceptions to the rule to delimit any generalization that the electorate this year was chiefly interested in punishing Republicans.

Probably the most outstanding example, and one of the few comforts for the GOP in the entire debacle, was the upset victory of Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes over incumbent John J. Gilligam.

Here the voters clearly voted their pocketbooks. The theme Rhodes hammered on was his opponent's use or alleged misuse of taxes. (Succeeding Rhodes in 1970, Gilligam had instituted Ohio's income tax.) Rhodes' name may have been linked with mobsters by Life magazine years ago, but it was not linked with taxes and big spending.

Had it not been for the "inflation factor" or "cost of living factor," in this race at any rate, the outcome quite probably would have been different. But not only in Ohio but all across the country, it was on the local level that people hit back against inflation — yet, again, selectively.

There was no mass rejection of school bond issues or police or fire or health or library levies. Rather, in community after community, while voters may have turned down this new levy, which would have meant increased taxes, they approved that renewal levy, which kept taxes the same.

It was a conservative vote in the literal sense of the word. People realized that nothing would be solved by taking out their financial frustrations on their children's educations or firemen's salaries — but at the same time served notice that if they have to tighten their belts, so does everyone else.

As for the Democratic congressional landslide, the victors should not chortle overmuch. If bread-and-butter issues are as overriding in 1976 as they seem to have been in this election, if the economy has not achieved a dramatic improvement by then, guess whose turn it will be to be "punished."

We should encourage self destiny

BRAVO! BRAVO! We, the citizens, do have someone who is watching out for our democratic interests. After reading Jack Anderson's article, "How U.S. subverted Chilean economy" I will sleep a little easier tonight.

Our country since its inception has interfered with the internal affairs of other people and other places. We as an organized political body invaded the king's influence in infant America. BRAVO!, the South for freedom of self, BRAVO!, Europe, Asia and others for freedom to self govern, BRAVO!

Now, Jack Anderson wants to stop the traditional trends of using force, whether it be political or economical from helping other persons to determine their destiny. Through his fascinating documents and eye opening intrigue he purports to disclose of terrible sins committed somehow, somewhere in the World Bank by withholding loans from the former Allende in Chile as the reason why he, "ALLENDE" fell from power? Preposterous by any imagination!

We in the United States should continue on every front to turn back the forces who want to stifle self destiny. If the United States can accomplish this by political or economic means vis a vis traditional methods, BRAVO! And to those in our government who have the guts to stand up to those forces, BRAVO! — William A. Koch, Pomona.

Chino Hills airport

The Progress-Bulletin's Oct. 22 edition carried a news article indicating that the Chino City Council and the Chino Chamber of Commerce oppose the proposed expansion of the Ontario airport due to the increase in noise levels caused by the new flight paths.

The Chino City Council is currently sponsoring an effort to construct a large airport in the Chino hills. These two actions are not in conflict. The expansion of the Ontario airport would reduce to zero any possible need for an airport in the Chino hills.

The Chino City Council has no respect for the residents of Yorba Linda, Placentia, Brea and Diamond Bar. The noise levels in these communities would be greatly increased not only due to aircraft but also due to surface traffic.

The council's greed for money may bring an added burden on the Chino taxpayers. The proposed Chino hills airport reportedly will be financed by $300 million in federal aid and $100 million in revenue bonds.

Are the Chino taxpayers aware that should the airport not be profitable, and there is a very good possibility that it will not be, a special tax will be levied to pay off the revenue bonds.

The citizens of Chino should have their council detail to them the complete facts of both the Ontario airport expansion and the proposed Chino hills airport. — G.A. Sawyer, chairman, Airport Committee, Diamond Bar Home Owners Association.

Just in jest

In the battle of the sexes, each side wins a few and loses a few — and this week it would seem the men are at least temporarily ahead.

You can score one for Women's Liberation because the President has signed a bill giving women equal money borrowing rights. But that gain was partially offset when a Superior Court Judge ruled widowers of deceased teachers are entitled to collect their wives' pension pay.

The women scored again when, in Germany, an 18-year-old Fraulein won the 1974 Beer Guzzling Contest against strong male competition. However, men's rights got a big boost when the Supreme Court ruled a husband has a right to wiretap his estranged wife's telephone conversations. Though, considering the length of those conversations and the cost of recording tape, most husbands would probably be better off if they just forgot about trying to get evidence and agreed to divorce and alimony demands.

And when the Los Angeles City Council unanimously passed an ordinance eliminating sex designations from all city job titles, it appeared as though the gals had taken a giant step forward. But those male chauvinist councilmen weren't as women's rights minded as at first it might have appeared. They carefully stipulated that the ruling would in no way affect elected officials.

Suicides as Wall Street's indicators

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A terribly despondent man called the office the other morning and said he was going to commit suicide. "I think so anyway," he said. Why? he was asked. "I'm sick of everything," he explained. "I got no job, I can't pay bills, the sinking world is falling apart." He was encouraged to hang on, but he hung up, concluding:

"I already been through one depression in my life and I'll be damned if I'm gonna go through one again."

The call was an unusual one for a news office, but not for the 200 or more organizations in America established to dissuade citizens from this kind of extreme action. The Suicide Prevention Center in Los Angeles receives 12,000 such calls annually. An American University emergency center in Washington receives 14-to-15,000 similar calls though it is only campus oriented. Even in the best of times many Americans think about a self-inflicted end.

But the times now are anything but the best and there is some evidence that suicidal tendency rates are increasing as a result. "Normally," says Barry Warren of New York City's Save a Life League, "our calls are from people worried about marriage or interpersonal problems. Lately, we've been getting more from people worried about jobs, the economy and world problems. We have this one elderly professor, for example, who has been out of work for eight months and he calls up regularly for our support."

The same increase has been noticed at the American University emergency center. Bob Axelrod there says the students still call with traditional dilemmas, but larger numbers of off-campus people are calling with economy related worries. "Jobs, inflation — you name it," Axelrod says, "in a word I'd call it hopelessness."

The word is apt. With 5.5 million Americans out of work and double-digit inflation as well as energy and leadership shortages, despair is on the rise. A local priest says he's receiving "many" late-night calls from parishioners who can't sleep. Some policemen report nabbing suspects who, citing personal conditions, say they are "glad to go to jail." A motel owner in New Jersey tells of a rise in the number of lone women checking into his rooms and "watching television until the wee hours — it scares me to death."

There are no statistics available to prove the trend, though some sociologists are beginning to investigate the human consequences of the current hard times. And indeed, one of the nation's foremost suicide authorities, Dr. Norman Farberow of the L.A. Suicide Prevention Center, is yet to be convinced world problems are leading to higher suicide rates at all. The rates are high, to be sure, at least 25,000 Americans kill themselves each year and a minimum of 200,000 others make an attempt, but Farberow says the reasons are not new but traditional: loneliness, bad marriage, etc. — people having trouble with or without each other.

Actually, some experts believe that instead of encouraging suicide tendencies, today's problems may be discouraging them. Adversity brings out the best in us, and all that. Moreover, say some, suicide contemplation in hard times is not all that bad anyway; as Nietzsche said it: "The thought of suicide is a great consolation, by means of it one gets successfully through many a bad night."

Yet few will argue the emotional dangers in today's political-economic mess. The ultimate depression may well belong to the guy who wants to shoot himself but can't afford a gun. And so Farberow cautions anyone with dark thoughts, whatever the cause, to get help. "The main reason people commit suicide is that they can't find anybody to lean on in times of distress." Whether it's a marriage or money woe, adds Farberow, "all of us need support."

Those who don't seek it or can't find it are in the most trouble, in which case even a call to a news office may do some ultimate good.

Integrating the men in blue

Between 1970 and 1974, the number of blacks serving in the nation's 49 statepolice forces (Hawaii has none) more than doubled. There was also an increase of 40 per cent in the number of other minorities.

This sounds impressive, until it is realized that there were only 250 black state patrolmen in the whole country in 1970.

According to a survey by Race Relations Information Center in Nashville, figures obtained from 42 of the 49 states show that in a total of 41,384 sworn state police personnel, there are 626 blacks (1.5 per cent), 511 Hispanics (1.2 per cent), 171 American Indians (0.4 per cent), 11 other minority officers and 135 women (0.3 per cent).

To put it another way, almost 40,500 state police (96.6 per cent) are white males.

Race Relations Information Center also obtained statistics on the number of minorities and women serving on 35 of the nation's largest metropolitan police forces. There the proportion of blacks is closer to their representation in the total population.

Specifically, black policemen in the 35 cities number 7,884, or 8.9 per cent of a total of 89,065 officers. However, more than 4,500 of the blacks cops are in just two cities, New York and Chicago.

Supporting African racism

WASHINGTON — The State Dept. has solemnly denied our story that Henry Kissinger's first tilt was toward the white supremacist nations of Southern Africa.

Although we had requested comment four days earlier, the State Dept. waited to respond until our story appeared. It "raises a little straining," said a spokesman, "to say we have tilted toward the white regimes of Africa."

This is precisely the comment our African policy documents called for. Kissinger personally selected as U.S. policy the second option in the secret National Security Memorandum 39: The United States "would maintain public opposition to racial repression but relax political isolation and economic restrictions on the white states."

Kissinger changed American policy from "basic opposition" to "public opposition" toward racial repression in the white-ruled African countries. He changed the existing policy of "correct relations" to a "quiet" policy of more relaxed relations.

Previously, the United States had enforced a strict arms embargo against the white supremacists and kept official contacts to a minimum.

But after Kissinger changed the policy, the United States approved the sale of aircraft to South Africa; said Portugal some Boeing 707s that were used to ferry troops to her white colonies; allowed Union Carbide to import chrome from Rhodesia; attempted to retain a consulate in Salisbury, Rhodesia; and vetoed more stringent sanctions against Rhodesia in the United Nations.

The State Dept., in all fairness, resisted the changes which were forced upon them by Kissinger's opposites in the basement of the White House. Kissinger was so disturbed at the State Dept., in fact, that he didn't trust them to communicate the new policy to South Africa. Instead, he took the extraordinary step of sending the message through an influential column in South Africa's Johannesburg Star.

"Out of the blue," the Star's Washington correspondent Ken Owen now reveals, "I was summoned to the Executive Office Building beside the White House and asked if I would use my regular column of comment on American affairs in the Star to convey a message directly to Pretoria (the South African capital)."

Owen told my associate Joe Spear that he spoke to a Kissinger aide who gave him a full briefing on the new policy. He was asked "to emphasize the necessity for Pretoria to respond in a manner which would protect President Nixon's flank from Black Africa, from Negro groups and from the professional anti-apartheid lobby."

Owen claimed that the State Dept.'s professionals regained the ascendancy over African policy after Kissinger became absorbed by Middle East and Watergate.

The tilt toward the white regimes, he said, "still remains technically the American policy, but it has become a posture instead of a process."

FOOTNOTE: We have checked out Ken Owen's story with our own high-level sources who confirm its accuracy.

INSIDE THE WHITE HOUSE: President Ford's barber, Milton Pitts, has said him on a more modern look. Pitts sketched a proposed new hairline on a picture of the President in the Washington Post and showed it to Ford. The barber wanted to eliminate the shaved gap around the President's ears which went out of style a decade ago. Ford approved the sketch and is now growing a new hairline closer to the ears . . .

The photo spread of Susan Ford in People magazine has touched off a dispute between the White House and photographer Stanley Tretick. The famed photographer asked the White House for permission to do a photo story on the President's daughter. He was turned down, with the explanation that Susan wanted to keep a low profile while her mother was ailing. But the White House later sent the magazine a batch of pictures taken by the President's personal photographer, David Kennerley. This cut Tretick out of an estimated $2,200 and stuck the taxpayers with the photo bill. He fired off an angry letter of protest to White House press secretary Ron Nessen . . . Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., dropped by the White House the other day and got into a discussion of the Michigan-Michigan State football game with President Ford. The President was completely familiar with the relative strength of both teams . . .

A DRY martini

The California Farm Bureau Federation had, we suspect, some fun figuring the amounts of nourishment and refreshment we put into our bodies during the biblical life span of three score years and ten:

"By the time you are 70, you will have consumed: 150 head of cattle; 2,400 chickens; 26 acres of grain; 225 lambs; 320 hogs and 50 acres of fruits and vegetables. You will have used 7,000 gallons of water."

Then comes the statistic that just might explain all those other figures:

"Dry martini drinkers will have put away 320 gallons of gin and one and a half quarts of vermouth." A proportion (if our new dandy little pocket calculator works properly, or if we work it properly) of 1360 to 1.

Now that's a DRY martini!

No salute for General Aviation

Riddle: What kind of a goose lays a $25 billion egg? Before I answer that may I say this: General Aviation gets no salute.

Princeton's opinion research institute recently asked around: "Can you define General Aviation?" Most said they'd "never heard of him."

It's not a "him"; it's an "it; one of the biggest businesses in the world. You know what an airliner is. There are 2,500 of them flying around the skies. You know what a military bomber or fighter plane is. There are some 20,000 of those.

But General Aviation is all the rest of those airplanes flying around the skies and there are 165,000 of them! That's right: 98.5 per cent of all civil aircraft are General Aviation — the planes flown by businessmen, farmers, air taxi pilots, crop dusters, sports flyers.

There are more turbine-powered aircraft flying on business than there are flying for the airlines. There are 12,000 airports in the United States, but only 500 of them have airline service. So one in every three people flying between cities depend on General Aviation.

And the United States' pre-eminence in General Aviation has contributed importantly to balancing our trade with other nations. Last year we exported 3,530 airplanes — $307 million worth.

Our civil aerospace industry sales, which generate jobs and paychecks, tax revenue and income from outside, now total $25 billion a year.

And that big goose which lays that golden egg owes its vigor to General Aviation. Nine out of every 10 General Aviation planes in the world are made in the U.S.A. And exports the first half of this year are up 39 per cent from a year ago.

If you and I were never in the world still be in debt to the Beechcrafts and the Boeings, the Cessnas and the Gates-Learjets, the Lockheeds and the McDonnell-Douglases and the Pipers. It's time we all learn to salute the General.

Because recently, when a fuel crisis threatened, some lawmakers tried to strangle the goose. The fact is that General Aviation manages to move one-third of all intercity passengers while consuming only seven-tenths of one percent of our nation's transportation fuel. Some industries spill more than that!

Other efforts to strangle the goose involve frequent government orders for expensive instrumentation and modifications. This is an important and growing factor in our future; it requires understanding; it deserves a salute.

What kind of a goose lays a $25 billion golden egg? Answer: A very big goose. And if our future is to have a future it needs a very big General Aviation.

Heartline: If I work in September and make $200 and they pay me for that work in October, which month will Social Security count that income for? — M.W.

Answer: For retirement test purposes, it is the month that you earn it. In your case, September. For crediting quarters of coverage it is October, the month in which it was paid.

Answer: The questions, like yours, come from the senior citizens in 40 states who read Heartline. The answers come directly from the agency or organization involved.

Heartline: My father needs eight more quarters to be qualified for Social Security. Due to his age and health, he will never qualify. Is he entitled to a refund? — L.E.

Answer: No. There are no refunds under Social Security.

Heartline: I need the address of my local congressman. Where can I obtain this information? — N.T.

Answer: Your local library usually has the name and the address of all Congressmen and Senators.

Heartline: I have been on disability Social Security for 9 years. I will soon be 65. At age 65, can I work and make the $2,400 even though I've been on disability? — D.S.

Answer: Yes, at age 65, you are on regular Social Security and can make $2,400 without affecting your Social Security benefits.

Heartline: Please help me. I've been told six different answers. I am disabled. I have applied for disability Social Security. I applied last month and I have been disabled for seven months. Will they pay me from the date I applied or will they pay me retroactively? —M.F.

Answer: If approved, they will pay you with the sixth full month of disability.

ANN LANDERS

Endorsement signature supported decriminalization of marijuana

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I figured that all those hoary letters would get to you sooner or later, but I didn't expect it to happen so soon. I honestly believe you've gone off your rocker.

I just read where you and some other oddballs have signed some sort of endorsement for marijuana. Now you say it is "normal" for kids to use it and all the scare stories about marijuana are nonsense and actually turning kids to harder stuff because they don't believe any of the propaganda about drugs.

I always thought you had good, common sense, and I was pleased you were against pot because it helped me make a case with my own children. They have faith in what you say and will take it from you, but not from me.

Now, what am I to tell them when they catch up with your letter? Please explain. I am—Dumbfounded

Dear Founded—or perhaps I should say Dear Dumb: Talk about getting facts twisted, you win the cut-glass fly swatter. My position on marijuana is unchanged. I haven't budged an inch. I still believe that marijuana is not harmless. I continue to be opposed to any mind-altering drug—including alcohol, especially for teen-agers.

I did sign a statement declaring that I am in favor of the decriminalization of marijuana. This does not mean that I want to see it legalized. I do not. But I do want to see the laws in regard to possession changed.

The name of the organization whose statement I endorsed is "NORML." It is The National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws. The state volunteer coordinator is Paul H. Kuntz, Jr., a highly respected gentleman.

The other "oddballs" (your term, not mine) who have endorsed the decriminalization statement are John Finlator, William F. Buckley Jr., James J. Kilpatrick, Sens. Barry Goldwater, Jacob Javits, Harold Hughes, Charles Percy, and Adlai Stevenson III, and Joel Fort, M.D.

You write better than you read—and your apologies are accepted.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I feel embarrassed writing this letter but something has been preying on my mind for a long time. You are the only one who can relieve my anxiety. Please help.

Several years ago, I was struggling with an intimate crisis in my life. I wrote to you and poured out my heart. I signed that letter and gave my correct name and address.

Now, five years later, I am leading a happy and productive life and am considering running for public office. Is there any chance that my letter to you is still in your files? Could anyone possibly see it? I am ashamed to confess that this has become an obsession with me. Please reply. — Too Late Smart

Dear T.L.S.: Relax, friend. We keep no letters on file. All letters are destroyed. Furthermore, every letter written to Ann Landers is handled by me or one of my competent, closed-mouthed secretaries. All mail is considered strictly confidential and is never shared or discussed outside of this office.

Confidential to Have To Be Too Heavy-Handed: Don't be afraid to make your position clear. If The Lord didn't mean business he would have handed down "The Ten Suggestions."

What's the story on pot, L.S.D., cocaine, uppers and downers, speed? Can you handle it if you're careful? Send for Ann Landers's new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For Friday, Nov. 15

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Normally you're the one with all the bright, new ideas. If you listen carefully a friend will lay one on you that you'll find quite useful.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Being helpful to others may not pay the immediate reward you're looking for. At a later date you'll be compensated fairly.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It would do you good to get out and do something fun socially. Pick a perky partner who would also like to escape today's routine.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The next few days you'll do your best work if you're involved in creative projects. Try to find things to do that test your imagination.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're making a much better impression than you realize. People you're meeting now are considering you for their future guest lists.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Conditions that contribute to your security are starting to firm up more. However, what's occurring won't be visible for awhile yet.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Don't neglect any matters at this time that require communication. Open up the channels. You'll get some news in return.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Something you've been wanting will be coming your way shortly under very unusual circumstances.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You will be able to move more independently today and tomorrow and get important things accomplished of personal interest.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'll fare better if you stay in the background a bit. Keep in touch with events but don't try to lead.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You function very well where there are groups involved. Volunteer for a committee at your club. You'd do a fine job.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be more assured of yourself now. You're likely to fare better than most in situations where competition is involved.

Your Birthday Nov. 15

You'll do well for yourself financially this year with creative projects you hope to turn a profit on. Put your imagination to work for yourself beginning now.

AT WIT'S END

Hostilities wafted away by air mail

By ERMA BOMBECK

Some of the mail addressed to this column is absolutely vicious. I got one recently that said, "Paul Newman is short! Ha ha." Of course, it was unsigned.

"What kind of an animal would get me so upset?" I asked Mother.

"A wise one," she counseled. "Don't you know that writing letters is the greatest way in the world to get rid of your hostilities? People who bottle things up inside them eventually wind up hanging the laundry out in a driving rain, wearing bedroom slippers that don't match. Get rid of your anger. Write it down. Besides, every time I've complained about anything, the manufacturer has sent me a free case of his product."

I'm not much with words when I talk. When I'm angry, my tongue looks like it was just shot full of novocaine and I usually mumble something like, "Well, we'll see what we shall see." (Which when translated still doesn't make any sense.)

But when I sit down at the typewriter, my fingers danced along the keys like Van Cliburn's. I mean I was positively brilliant. I wrote to a major airline telling them I considered the Wright Brothers the foremost humorists in this country and that if God had meant for people to fly their airline (Trans Fright) he would never have invented old age.

I wrote to the president of a grocery store chain pointing out that there is a time in a woman's life (somewhere between Rumperdinck and Simmins) when she can't cope with a cash register that runs out of tape in the middle of a $70 order on her bowling night.

I wrote to the manufacturer of a $12.95 pair of No-Shrink jeans and enclosed payment for them that had been left in the pocket during laundry. The check had shrunk in proportion to the jeans and amounted to $2.20.

I wrote to King Faisal and said, "I knew you when you were Alec Guinness and I hope your camel loses its anti-freeze."

But my finest hour was probably a letter to the man who sold me my car. On a cleverness scale of ten, I was a 14. I told about my special license plates that spelled LEMON, how the carpet had worn out in the trunk, how the parts had to be ordered from behind the Iron Curtain, and how their explanation for everything was that it was a car built on Monday when everyone was hung over.

The only response I've gotten from any of them has been a newsletter from the car manufacturer. But as I told Mother, "Well, we'll see what we shall see."

Friends and enemies earmarked in dreams

In a man's dreams, his enemies mostly are men, his friends mostly women. That's not the case in a girl's dreams usually, say the sleep researchers. Her enemies and friends therein are all mixed up, both male and female.

NOTEWORTHY REFERENCE, the Encyclopaedia Britannica. The 1820 edition, printed in Britain, had this to say about American women: "At the age of 15, many of them can be taken for Europeans of 40. In South Carolina at the age of 30, a woman appears as old as the age of 50. In that exhausting climate, the hair becomes entirely white."

PARTY CLAUSE

The party clause is what it's called. Numerous French landlords write it into the contracts with their apartment tenants. It permits one party a month, no limit on noise, providing said tenant gives two days notice to neighboring renters, so they can either get out of town or join the shebang. Not a bad notion.

PLANNED

Pollsters recently queried 120,000 young mothers. A third of them said all of their children were planned. Another third said none of their children were planned. And the final third said some of their children were planned, some weren't.

"MY HUSBAND AND I and our children are extra-ordinarily healthy. I think it's because of something my mother taught me. I make sure our main meal always consists of three colors. What colors do not matter, so long as they are different. That way, she told me, whatever you serve will supply all your nutritional needs. It is the only diet plan we have ever followed, and we all weigh what we should, look fine, and feel great." So reports a Pennsylvanian who signs herself Cheerful Kitchen Mechanic.

ISLANDS

Q. "Where does Madagascar rank in that list of the world's largest islands?"

A. — It's No. 4. Right behind Borneo, No. 3. New Guinea, No. 2. Greenland, No. 1.

QUITE TRUE, just about twice as many men as women marry after age 40.

HOW CAN YOU call yourself a loyal Harvard alumnus if you can't name the six U.S. presidents educated at your university? Oh, you didn't go to Harvard? All right, John Adams, John Quincy Adams, Theodore Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Rutherford B. Hayes and John F. Kennedy.

THE DOCTOR COMMENTS

Lumbago is a pain in the muscles

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Will you please explain "lumbago?" Many people seem to suffer from it and to become involved in all sorts of unnecessary and futile efforts at diagnosis and treatment.

DEAR READER — Lumbago is not a medical term. It is used to label pain in the lumbar spine or muscular region. The lumbar spine is that small section of the spine between the bottom of the chest and the pelvis. It is the "small of the back."

Pain in this area is usually from cramped or contracted muscles. This can be from a muscular "strain" or from an abnormality in the spine itself. A careful examination has to be done to find out why there is pain. This can vary from having a short leg, causing abnormal posture and muscular strain, to a protruding (slipped) disk. Degeneration of the spine with new abnormal bone growth or spur formation may cause pressure on nerves resulting in pain.

There is no way to tell what the cause is without a searching examination. Then the next step is to correct the underlying cause. You can get immediate relief in some cases with heat and medicines to relax muscle spasm, but this is only temporary. Unless the underlying cause is determined and steps taken to correct it, the problem is apt to occur again.

I'd like to mention that not all back pain is from the muscles or the spine. Even spastic colon can cause back pain. Don't just assume that back pain means "lumbago."

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 36 and have been married for several years. We don't have any children but would love to. I'm overweight but am trying desperately to lose. What I want to know is, am I too old to have my first child? If not, what is the oldest age you would suggest for having a first child?

DEAR READER — No, you are not too old. I have known women who had their first child when they were past 40.

It's true that there is some increase in chances of having a baby with some problems as you get older. A woman has all the cells that will form ova and enable pregnancy when she is first born. It is said that the older the cells the more likely there will be a problem.

However, many women have babies even at the menopause age, and the babies are perfectly normal. So there is no set rule.

A woman does have more difficulty not with a pregnancy as she gets older. There is no hard and fast rule on that either. One woman may be in better health than the next so that has to be determined individually.

You should find out if you are able to get pregnant by letting your doctor examine you and perhaps run some tests. But, if you and your husband are able to have a child you certainly are not too old. Good luck.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on losing weight, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for the "Losing Weight" booklet.

About this and that

The family of Geoffrey Chaucer, author of "The Canterbury Tales," were shoemakers. This is evident in the family name, which comes from the French "chausseir," meaning "maker of footwear." Robert le Chaucer was the poet's grandfather.

Lake Titicaca, on the Peruvian-Bolivian border, is the highest lake (12,506 feet above sea level) in the world on which steamboats can ply.

The River Shannon, longest river in the British Isles, flows 224 miles through Ireland to the Atlantic Ocean; a canal with 44 locks links it with the Irish Sea at Dublin.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Republicans having jobless woes

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It is now apparent that next to Wall Street brokers the two groups hardest hit by economic "stagflation" are the auto industry and the Republican Party.

Layoffs that reached the 84,000 mark this week caused one union official to remark that "the auto industry is not in a recession — it's in a depression."

Exact unemployment figures for Republicans were not yet available, owing to recounts in some of last week's close races.

But vast numbers of GOP congressmen, senators and governors were reported looking for work.

"The Republican Party is not in a depression," one GOP official told me. "It's in an abyss."

Adding to the GOP's jobless woes is the possibility, still not firm but apparently solidifying, that Nelson Rockefeller may soon be out on the street.

When a Republican with a resume as impressive as the vice presidential nominee's is in danger of being laid off, you know the labor market is tight indeed.

Traditional job openings for GOP congressmen who got the pink slip last week won't be easy to find, even with a Republican in the White House.

There simply aren't that many ambassador appointments available.

It is true that new nations have been coming into existence at a fairly rapid rate in the past decade. But the prospect of 40 or 50 new countries being created between now and January, when the lame ducks go off the congressional payroll, is rather slim.

Some economists advocate making more job opportunities available by creating additional states. They point out that slicing Texas into thirds and halving Alaska would create openings for three new governors, six senators and several House members.

Looking at this proposal realistically, however, it is unlikely that statehood expansion could be accomplished in time to keep the wolf from the lame duck door.

Prof. John Maynard Shoddumup, an economist with whom I discussed this problem, said he thought the best approach would be a retraining program.

I said, "Do you mean a program to retrain outgoing Republican congressmen as computer operators, aerospace technicians and the like?"

"No, I mean a program to retrain them as Democrats," the professor explained.

Although it looks good on paper, I doubt the program would do much to mitigate disruptions in the GOP labor force. For one thing, it would be hard to find competent instructors.

Half the time, Democrats don't know what they are doing themselves.

Egg farmers withhold part of production

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California egg producers are withholding part of their weekly production from the consumer market in a move to increase prices to meet rising production costs.

State Food and Agriculture Director C.B. Christensen Tuesday said producers established a surplus egg pool last Sunday and will divert five per cent of their production into it until next March 1.

"Hopefully, the plan will provide better returns to producers," Christensen said in a statement.

He said the plan was proposed by the 15-member California Egg Advisory Board, composed of egg producers. The pool will be used for export to foreign countries, with profits distributed back to producers.

California producers currently are turning out 420,000 cases of eggs, with 30 dozen to a case, each week. A spokesman for the board said the producers are handling too many eggs to cover production costs.

By withdrawing the eggs from the market, the shortened supply should boost the price paid to the producer. That, in turn, will probably push up the consumer price.

Board spokesman Doug Banion said California producers have been losing an average of from 1.5 to 3.5 cents on each dozen eggs produced.

Christensen said the pool also would prevent a reduction in the size of flocks and "keep consumer prices from skyrocketing early next year as a result of greatly decreased production."

The state has authorized the producers to create the pool twice previously, once beginning in November 1972 and running through the middle of July 1973 and again from May to the end of August of this year.

More wood needed, says lumberman

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — The forest industry must find ways to produce more wood to relieve energy crisis pressure on other supplies, the Weyerhaeuser Co.'s research director said Tuesday.

"It's a safe bet that somewhere, homehow we must learn to produce more wood," Weyerhaeuser's George Staebler told the Pacific Logging Congress.

While wood is too costly to serve as an energy source, he said, wood-based materials may be used to replace synthetics and plastics which require more energy to produce than forest products.

"Mostly, but not entirely, the wood is usable for products more valuable than energy," he said, adding that "it is simply not in the logistical or economic cards that our energy salvation lies in growing and cutting more wood to take the place of dwindling oil and natural gas reserves."

Staebler, Centralia, Wash., said a major energy saving could be made through using wood as an insulating material in construction.

The student went up with dummy's ace of hearts' pulled trumps with three leads and led a low club to dummy's jack and East's queen. East led back a heart; South cashed his high hearts to discard one club from dummy; played ace and another club and saw the hand collapse on account of the 4-1 club break.

"Could I have made the hand?" he asked.

"Yes you could," replied the Professor. You overlooked the simplest way. You should have cashed your high cards in the side suits and wind up with a crossruff. A 6-2 heart break would beat you but that is just about all."

Let's check this cross ruff out. South cashes three hearts while discarding a club from dummy; takes the minor suit aces and gives away a club trick he will have fine tricks in and be sure of seven more on the cross ruff.

Suppose a trump was opened. Then the 4-1 club break would doom South.

Poor weather hurts Texas cotton crop

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Poor weather has lead to a poor cotton crop in Texas and production has dropped 40 per cent.

John C. White, agriculture commissioner, said that cotton production is estimated at 2.8 million bales compared to 4.7 million bales in 1973.

"Most of the decrease this month has occurred on the High Plains where cool, wet weather has delayed cotton maturity over most of the area," White said. The region was hit by drought this summer.

White said the fall rains had hurt production of sugarbeets and sorghum. Sugarbeet production is estimated at 360,000 tons, a decrease of 20,000 tons from 1973. Sorghum is projected at 289 million bushels compared to 417 million bushels last year.

Acupuncture on decline in China?

LONDON (UPI) — A British scientist who recently visited China says that the use of acupuncture in medical practice there "is surprisingly rare and the number of cases is decreasing."

Prof. Pat Wall, head of the Cerebral Functions Unit at University College in London and co-author of the current most popular theory of pain, said his studies showed acupuncture "does not work very well on many people."

But, he stressed in an article in the magazine New Scientist, it remains "a fascinating phenomenon."

"I very much hope that because I have written here in classical terms, I shall not be accused of denying the existence of acupuncture analgesia or the achievement of the Chinese," he wrote.

On the contrary, the article said, acupuncture presents Western medicine with "a challenge to examine and dissect the phenomenon, to try to understand its mechanisms and to see if better methods can be developed."

Wall said he had observed a large number of major operations performed under acupuncture and this had led him to abandon an earlier theory that hypnosis was involved. He added:

"First, what are the facts? Operations are certainly completed under acupuncture but its use is surprisingly rare and the number of cases is decreasing. In 1973, the most active hospital using acupuncture which we visited had carried out 5,200 major surgical prodedures but only 324 (6 per cent) were under acupuncture with the rest being done with conventional chemical anesthesia.

"It is crucial to realize that the majority of the 324 patients had the effect of acupuncture backed up by three familiar anti-pain techniques. They were sedated with barbiturate both the night before and on the morning of the operation.

"They were given an intravenous narcotic analgesic immediately before the operation and frequently this dose was repeated during the operation. Lastly, particularly painful regions such as the ribs or the root of the lung were infiltrated with a local anesthetic.

"However one must stress that these reinforcements are not by themselves sufficient to explain the whole phenomenon especially because they were not used in certain very rare instances."

Wall said he now believes social and psychological mechanisms play a dominant part in acupuncture treatment. He said patients who ask for acupuncture are admitted to hospital days and sometimes week before their operation for training and preparation, for development of a mutual sense of trust, duty and obligation on the part of doctors and patients.

He praised the Chinese hospitals highly.

"On one occasion only," he said, "we witnessed the startling sight of a non-narcotized young woman, bright, conscious and talking, having a thyroid cyst removed without any signs whatsoever of pain or distress...

"However, in the other operations we did see varying sighs of misery, borne with a most impressive and admirable fortitude, which would be rare in a Western patient."

He said he had been told that in some cases acupuncture operations had to be interrupted and conventional anesthesia introduced.

County buys 50 $1 homes to be auctioned off

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The county bought 50 houses from the federal government Tuesday —for $1 apiece.

The Department of Hoising and Urban Development owns 6,290 single family houses in Los Angeles, most of them seized when the owners defaulted on government-guaranteed mortgage loans.

SST's pilot: supersonics here to stay

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (UPI) — The supersonic transport is too important for the world to ignore and is here to stay, says the pilot of the Concorde SST.

John Cochrane, assistant director of British Aircraft Corp. (BAC) flight operations, flew the Concorde into Moses Lake recently to begin a month of de-icing tests.

The craft, the third Concorde to fly, will be based at the Grant County Airport during the testing.

Cochrane said after landing here that the Concorde crossed the Atlantic in a time of two hours, 55 minutes.

"You can't turn your back on the SST," he said. "It won't just go away."

BAC officials said the Concorde maintained an average speed of 1,121 miles per hour in covering the distance between Fairford, England and Bangor, Maine.

The SST flew directly to Moses Lake from Bangor.

Even though the Concorde can carry only 100 passengers and uses two and one-half times the fuel of a Boeing 747, the SST is still economically feasible, said Leo Shefer, director of public relations for BAC in the U.S.

He said the SST would appeal primarily to businessmen and women who are less sensitive to higher fares than tourists, and he said the proporation of fuel costs of the Concorde is not significantly higher than with the 747.

Shefer also said tests have revealed that the small amounts of nitric-oxides from the SST's exhaust at high altitudes would not affect the stratospheric ozone levels and raise radiation levels on earth as some of theorized.

While based at Moses Lake, the Concorde will conduct test flights primarily over the Cascades and Pacific Ocean, where BAC officials said meteorological conditions are favorable for producing ice on planes.

The Concorde will fly in areas where it is hoped ice layers of as much as two inches thick can be built on the jet in order to test the craft's ability to fly under such conditions.

New soft-face bumpers post trial victory

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors tested its new, soft-face automobile bumpers one of the most fearsome proving grounds known to man —the taxicabs of New York City.

The cab drivers gave GM's innovative plastic bumpers a resounding trial run with more than 1,100 smash-ups —and the automaker concluded the soft bumpers emerged victorious in the battle with the traditional metal variety.

After analyzing the results — 1,107 damaged soft face bumpers and 1,262 scarred metal bumpers —GM said the soft models accumulated a lower overall repair cost than did the metals.

Palestinian problem dates back 27 years

The Palestinian problem began 27 years ago when the United Nations voted to partition the British-administered territory into Arab and Jewish states. The Arab state was never set up.

Both states, according to the U.N. resolution, were to come into existence after Britain surrendered a 1920 League of Nations mandate to run Palestine.

The resolution unleashed a guerrilla war between Palestine's Arabs and Jews, forcing the first of an estimated 700,000 Palestinian Arabs to flee their homes.

After Britain departed Palestine on May 15, 1948, the Jews declared an independent state called Israel. The armies of seven Arab nations then attacked.

The war and the three 1949 truce agreements ending the hostilities obliterated the Palestinian Arab state outlined in the U.N. resolution.

Egypt took the Gaza Strip, turning the Mediterranean coastal slice into a huge refugee camp for dispossessed Palestinians.

Transjordan, which had been formed from Palestine's eastern wing, annexed the West Bank of the Jordan River and renamed itself Jordan. Israel incorporated the remainder of the proposed Arab state.

Some of the Palestinians moved to refugee camps in Jordan, Lebanon, Syria and Gaza to be cared for by the U.N. Relief and Works Agency.

Others became citizens of the new Jordanian state. And 140,000 remained in Israel, where they lived under martial law until 1966.

The better educated resettled in Kuwait, Saudi Arabia and the Persian Gulf sheikhdoms, working as doctors, lawyers, accountants and administrators.

Palestinian political consciousness, which never died, began stirring in 1956 when a group of young refugees in Gaza formed Al Fatah —an Arabic acronym for the Palestine Liberation Movement.

Al Fatah demanded that the Palestinian issue be viewed as a problem of statehood rather than one of refugees. The original Gaza group included a young engineer —Yasser Arafat.

Al Fatah spawned other groups. The guerrilla fedayeen —men of conscience —joined together in 1964 as the Palestine Liberation Organization. Arafat became head of the PLO after the 1967 Middle East War.

With the disastrous defeat of the Arab armies in the six-day war, the PLO came to prominence as the sole and immediate force resisting Israel.

The PLO demanded that Palestinians rely on themselves to resolve the Palestinian problem and not depend on socalled "Arab unity."

Despite terror attacks, the PLO has continued to gain world recognition as the spokesman for the national rights of Palestinians.

Many inflation-fight ideas

Other inflationary factors identified by the economists include: shortages of supplies, especially oil and agricultural products; anticipation of further inflation; inflation in nations which trade with the United States; the demands of labor unions; the interference with free trade practiced by all sorts of federal regulatory agencies; tariffs and quotas; corporate monopolies; the devaluation of the dollar on the world market; and the failure of the last three presidents of the United States to listen to economists.

In addition to inflation, the economists agree, the nation is suffering from most of the symptoms of recession.

one paradox: inflation and unemployment both going up

One of the technical indicators of a recession is a decline in the real gross national product sustained for two successive fiscal quarters. The "real" gross national product is the gross national product reduced by the factor of inflation, or the gross national product calculated in "real" uninflated dollars.

The United States has sustained a decline in real gross national product for three successive fiscal quarters. This is sufficient evidence of convince several of the economists questioned that the nation is in a recession.

Unemployment is relatively high, having reached six per cent, and it is likely to climb considerably higher before it makes a significant drop.

To talk of recession deepening as inflation continues is somewhat paradoxical. According to the traditional economic wisdom, a period of inflation trypically is characterized by expansion of businesses, high interest rates, and low unemployment. In fact, in traditional economic analysis, the rates of inflation and unemployment have a presumed relationship to each other which is shown by the Phillips curve, a diagram originated by Professor A.W. Phillips of the London School of Economics.

Judging by the Phillips curve, one might expect to trade high unemployment for a low rate of inflation, or a high rate of inflation for a low unemployment level. High unemployment should be associated with high inflation, according to the curve, and low employment should be accompanied by a low rate of inflation.

One of the vexing aspects of the current inflation rate is that it is coupled with a relatively high and probably climbing unemployment level. The Phillips curve did not prepare economists for this phenomenon of high unemployment and high inflation.

"Where have all the economists gone?" rhetorically asks Gordon Douglass, Department of Economics head at Pomona College. "Back to the drawing board."

"It very well may be that the standard Keynesian policies aren't relevant," Douglass concludes.

It is somewhat ironic that, only a few years after a politically conservative president, Richard M. Nixon, publicly embraced the economics of John Maynard Keynes, associated for more than 30 years with politically liberal programs in the United States and Great Britain, some American economists are edging away from Keynes.

So prestigious have the theories of Lord Keynes become, they have in a certain sense become the stardard wisdom of the schools. For an economist today to renounce the Keynesian model is analogous to a medieval astronomer giving up the Ptolemaic system prior to Copernicus.

Douglass emphasizes the complexity of the current inflationary trend and urges the notion that there are no quick or simple solutions available. The nations of the Western Hemisphere are economically interdependent, Douglass points out, and inflation in the worldwide market is a contagious as influenza.

Douglass notes that there presently is a "leadership vacuum" in the economic world. Unless this vacuum is competently filled, Douglass predicts, the situation is likely to continue to deteriorate.

Inflation and unemployment cannot be dealt with forcefully at the same time, Douglass says, so that if strong action is taken against the former, a sharply rising unemployment rate may be expected.

Douglass is the only economist questioned by The Progress-Bulletin who supports mandatory wage and price controls to halt inflation. He says he gives his support to the measure "reluctantly," adding: "I'm scared to death of them."

One reason he supports wage and price controls, Douglass explains, is the current high level of expectations of labor leaders.

"Organized llabor is beginning to think as British labor has been thinking for four or five years," he asserts. "They want to redress imbalances. They want a larger share of the profits."

This kind of thinking on the part of labor is extremely inflationary, Douglass points out. He would accompany the controls with an aggregate tax increase and a budget cut "to move the federal government toward a surplus."

McClelland believes that the experience of the last few years has been humbling for the economics profession.

"We've probably got some re-thinking to do," he admits.

McClelland believes that the current inflation is the result of pressure created by a more rapid increase in demand than in productivity. He is one of the economists who emphasize the shortages in such supplies as oil and agricultural goods to explain the inflationary trend.

McClelland makes the point, also, that economic decisions are not made in a vacuum. Political interests are weighed in any major economic evaluation by the President or Congress. It will be impossible to take steps to fight inflation without considering their political impact, he says.

One of the chief villains in the picture, McClelland believes, is monopoly. He would like to see legislation to establish compulsory arbitration for all public employes.

'Public employes have a better chance to get what they want'

Because they are not employed by a business which is competing to make a profit, public employes have a better chance of getting what they want from management, McClelland points out. The public pays the bill and inflation is urged onward.

"Almost no one with the exception of Mr. Galbraith would make that recommendation today," McClelland asserted, (unaware at that point of the fact that his colleague, Douglass, had also made the recommendation).

McClelland was referring to John Kenneth Galbraith, the author of "The Affluent Society" and the chief exponent for mandatory wage and price controls.

In an article published in the October issue of The Atlantic Monthly, Melville Ulmer, professor of economics at the University of Maryland, describes the nation's economists as belonging to three categories: the laissez-faire economists, the super-laissez-faire economists, and the planners.

The laissez-faire or conventional economists, Ulmer says, are exemplified by Paul Samuelson, a professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the author of the most widely used college textbook on economics.

The super-laissez-faire or conservative economists, led by Milton Friedman, oppose most forms of government interference with the market.

The planners, according to Ulmer, are those who, like Galbraith, assert the need for government regulation of the economy.

Probably none of the economists interviewed by the Progress-Bulletin is as regulation-oriented as Galbraith, but Douglass would appear to be more of a planner, in Ulmer's sense, than any of the others.

Thomson is distinctly the most super-laissez-faire of the economists interviewed: the emphasis upon monetary policy as opposed to fiscal policy is typical of the Friedman school of economics.

The other economists interviewed by the Progress-Bulletin seem to fall into the category described by Ulmer as laissez-faire, the middle-of-the-road economics of Samuelson and probably the majority of other college economics instructors. These economists accept the fact of government intervention in the market in a variety of ways, but they do not support outright federal control of the market by means of wage and price controls or socialization of industry. They want the federal government to help the market treat itself, but they do not want the market to become a ward of the government.

At present the federal government tinkers with the economy but it doesn't have absolute control over it. Government subsidies are given to some industries; prices of certain products are maintained at an artificially high level by legislation; interest rates at savings and loan institutions are prevented by law from climbing as high as they might; regulatory agencies determine price schedules for airlines and other services.

Inflation controls: many ideas

Ulmer's categories break economists down according to whether they tolerate present interference with the market (laissez-faire), want all regulation abolished (super-laissez-faire), or want controls extended (planning oriented).

Some of the laissez-faire economists have an almost wistful theory about the benefits which might be gained if regulation of the economy were extirpated.

Left alone to run itself, they seem to believe, the market could more easily rid itself of the fever of inflation. But the laissez-faire economists know that the regulations now in existence will never be eliminated and that talk of a regulation-free economy is an exercise of the imagination and not practical economics.

The planning-oriented economists argue that the market has become so unbalanced that the removal of controls would be dangerous and foolish.

Galbraith repeatedly has asserted that the power of gigantic corporations and huge labor unions requires the interposition of another immense force, and the only third force of a sufficient magnitude is the federal government. The only alternative to the government regulation, Galbraith has been saying, is effective control by monolithic corporations.

Of the economists interviewed, the one who expressed the most confidence in the ability of President Ford to gain the upper hand in the economic struggle was Reed Powell, dean of the School of Business Administration at Cal Poly Pomona.

Powell, who recently had an opportunity to speak directly to President Ford, is particularly concerned about the state of small business in the nation.

"I think there ought to be tax incentives for small businesses," Powell says, adding that there ought also to be an investment credit for business expansion.

'There are more ways of being wrong than right . . .'

Powell believes that the nation needs to expand its capital base.

So, in fact, do the other economists. High interst rates have made it extremely difficult for business—especially small business—to borrow the money needed for investment in expansion.

Powell also urges cuts in federal spending and a tax incentive to encourage people to save money.

Thomson believes that the other economists have failed to identify the real problem, however.

"The increase in the money supply does not come about because of deficit financing," Thomson says. "We didn't print money to finance the deficit."

The deficit created by the Vietnam War was financed by the issuance of government bonds, Thompson says.

He adds: "A deficit financed by selling bonds to the public merely diverts purchasing power from private hands to public hands without necessarily adding to the sum total."

According to Thomson, the Federal Reserve Board, by purchasing government bonds from private holders, in effect adds money to the system.

"The prognosis follows from the diagnosis," Thomson concludes. "The Federal Reserve Board must really be persuaded to cut back on the rate of increase in the money supply decisively but nevertheless slowly."

Thomson readily admits that most of his colleagues disagree with him. He explains this easily: "There are more ways of being wrong than right."

Likens and the other laissez-faire economists are convinced that nothing so simple as Thomson's solution will deal with the problem.

Likens points out that, traditionally, economists have worried primarily about demand. Supply was assumed to be available for any volume of demand, and supply could grow infinitely.

But the past few years have areas supply may be severely demonstrated that in many limited. Even prosperous nations must learn to deal with shortages. The existence of shortages creates hardship, Likens continues, and the great question now is how to distribute the inevitable hardship. The market can distribute the hardship through inflation or recession, or the government can distribute the harship by fiat.

Likens asserts that economists are divided not only into the three camps described by Ulmer, but into two more fundamental camps: those who believe that the economy needs to be stimulated, and those who believe that it should be restrained. Some economists believe that recession is the real danger: they want to stimulate the economy to make new jobs and to boost lagging industries.

Other economists—and Likens counts himself among them — hold that inflation is the primary problem and that a taste of recession may be the necessary therapy for inflation.

Likens recommends a tax increase as the chief brake upon the economy. He expects inflation to go down somewhat in the next 12 months, but he thinks it will remain high, and he believes that unemployment will continue to increase.

None of the professors interviewed will be proven wrong by subsequent events. If inflation considerably decreases, any one of them may claim that it did so because the measures he proposed were taken.

But if inflation persists at a high rate, it will be because President Ford listened to only one of them: Reed Powell.

The dismal science can be infinitely dismal. How scientific it can be has yet to be established.

9 youths to receive awards from nursery

Nine valley children who have won a gardening contest held by an Upland nursery will receive their awards this Saturday.

The children who participated in the contest cultivated sunflowers, zucchini squash, and pumpkins. To qualify for the contest, a child had to be between 7 and 13.

At harvest time, each contestant brought his vegetable to the nursery for weighing and measuring.

The nine winners are: in the sunflower category, Loretta Lepsi of 9327 Rose Ave., Montclair, 10, Lorie Pieri of 878 Dublin Court, Upland, 8, and Cheril Fujimoto of 1727 N. Mulberry Ave., Upland, 8; in the zucchini squash division, Mary Diemart of 1639 Vallejo Way, Upland, 11, David Norman of 1232 Overland Court, Upland, 11, and Doreen Clark of 720 Ridgefield Lane, Claremont, 12; in the pumpkin finals, Michelle Wheetman of 1452 Victoria Ave., Upland, 7, Tommy Gosnell of 1280 La Brida Drive, Chino, 7, and Jimmie Pieri of 878 Dublin Court, Upland, 7.

Some of the winners will receive trophies, and others will be presented with medals. The awards ceremonies will be held at Mt. Fuji Garden Center, 1555 W. Foothill Blvd., Upland, at 1 p.m.

ELMO ZUMWALT

Navy's mod admiral to appear in college forum

Elmo Zumwalt Jr., recently-retired Chief of Naval Operations, will be the first speaker at the Public Affairs Forum of Claremont Men's College Friday at 3 p.m. in McKenna Auditorium.

Adm. Zumwalt was the youngest — and proved to be the most unorthodox — naval officer to serve as chief of naval operations, a post he assumed in 1970. During his four controversial years as head of the U.S. Navy, he brought about major social changes that upset the whole traditional structure of the Navy.

Tagged early as "the mod admiral," he carried out innovative and imaginative programs drastically overhauling regulations to "humanize" life for naval personnel and their families. He modernized the navy not only in personnel relations but on all fronts, including the ships and their equipment.

Zumwalt, a native Californian, was graduated with distinction from Annapolis in 1943 and saw action in numerous assignments during World War II. In 1968 he was named commander of U.S. Naval Forces in Vietnam, and his innovations during this tour became a major factor in his elevation over 35 senior admirals to chief of naval operations.

He retired last June 30.

The first bowling tournament for women was held in St. Louis in 1917.

Russian roulette claims victim

PASADENA (UPI) — A 21-year-old Alabama man died at Huntington Memorial Hospital Tuesday night four hours after shooting himself while playing Russian roulette, police said.

The victim, whose name was withheld pending notification of his family, was with four friends when he started pulling the trigger of an unloaded revolver placed at his head.

He then reportedly loaded the gun with on cartridge and fired it, fatally wounding himself.

Pleased with official portrait, says Reagan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Retiring Gov. Ronald Reagan is "very pleased" with his official portrait as California's 33rd chief executive, according to an administrative aide.

The oil on canvas portrait of Reagan, which departs from the formal paintings of previous governors, was presented to Reagan last week by Oakland artist Robert Rishell, 57.

"The artist has been able to blend in some of the features of Capitol Park and the Capitol dome with an outstanding portrait of the governor," aide Pat McKelvey said Tuesday. "He (Reagan) is very pleased with it."

The portrait has not been shown publicly and will probably not be hung in the Capitol until after Reagan leaves office in January, McKelvey said.

Rishell's painting has a smiling Reagan standing on the Capitol grounds facing the viewer, with trees and a portion of the Capitol's dome shown in the background. The governor is shown standing in the sunlight and wearing a dark business suit.

The legislature appropriated $7,500 in the current state budget to finance the official portrait, which is 40 inches wide and 50 inches high and surrounded by a gold-colored frame.

Rishell, a specialist in western and desert landscapes who uses sunlight as his hallmark, was chosen by Reagan and his wife, Nancy, who considered a number of artists during the past two years.

The artist also has completed portraits of the late Robert Taylor and Gene Autry for the National Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City. His works are shown and regularly sold in Carmel and Palm Springs.

Naval victory

The football teams of the U.S. Military Academy and the U.S. Naval Academy held their first "Army-Navy" game on Nov. 29, 1890. The final score of the game, played at West Point was: Navy 24, Army 0.

'Victory for rehabilitation system'

Dr. Finch granted a medical license

ELDORADO SPRINGS, Mo. (UPI) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch, granted a medical license Tuesday by the Missouri Supreme Court, said he won a victory not for himself as a convicted murderer but for the prison rehabilitation system.

Finch, who served 12 years in California prisons for the 1959 West Covina slaying of his wife, won his final legal battle against the state Board of Registrations for the Healing Arts with the high court's ruling that he had been unfairly denied a license to renew his practice of medicine.

"I feel this decision by the court has not been so much for me personally as it is for the whole process of rehabilitation," Finch said during a break at Cedar County Memorial Hospital, where he has worked three years as an x-ray technician.

"It gives the ex-offender a chance to again become a first rate citizen. I hope this decision helps the thousands of people who need to have the license reinstated so they can have the hope of working in their profession."

The court's ruling struck down a series of attempts by the state board to deny the 56-year-old former California resident a physician's license.

A Cole County court order forced the board to give Finch a license test last December. Finch passed, but the board then refused to issue the license. The Supreme Court's ruling upheld a lower court's earlier decision that he was entitled to the license.

"We're at the end of the rope," said board executive secretary John A. Haley. "We'll have to give it back to him. We're disappointed in the fact that it has gone this way and the board has done everything it can."

Finch said he would go to work in the hospital in the community which took him in three years ago.

"My inclination is to crawl back into the woodwork and go back to work and become a private citizen and not so much a public figure," Finch said.

"However, I do feel an obligation to all the men and women who are going to have to fight the same rehabilitation battle I fought to do what I can to further the cause of rehabilitation."

The board's reluctance to issue the license centered on his conviction for the murder of his wife, Barbara Jean. His 24-year-old receptionist, Carole Tregoff, was convicted along with the then-wealthy surgeon.

During his 12 years in prison, Finch was commended as a model prisoner. But the closest he could come to his former profession after parole was the X-ray technician post at the small community hospital.

TODAY'S Women

Church of Nazarene setting for nuptials

The First Church of the Nazarene was the setting for the marriage of Miss Lillian Ann Pina and Paul G. Urena.

(Artisans photo)
MRS. PAUL G. URENA

Officiant for the afternoon rites was the Rev. Hiram E. Sanders who was assisted by the Rev. Julio Petridis.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francisco V. Pina was given in marriage by her father when she recited vows with the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Urena.

She wore an organza gown with lace cuffs edging the long sheer sleeves. Her veil was cathedral-length and trimmed in matching lace.

Miss Olivia Pina was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Due Pina, Mrs. Yolanda Wrightsman, Laurie Dunn, Sally Urena and Debby Kruse.

Red Cross to instruct parents

Classes for expectant parents will be offered at Pomona Chapter, Red Cross, 420 N. Reservoir St., beginning Monday.

Mrs. Mary Calleros, R.N., will instruct the classes from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Monday and on Nov. 25, Dec. 2 and Dec. 9.

The classes include information on the birth of the baby, infant care and feeding. Both parents are encouraged to attend.

There is no charge for the classes and Red Cross certificates will be presented upon completion of the program. Registration can be made by calling the chapter office, 622-1348.

White Shrine will honor past officers

Pomona Valley Shrine 22 will honor past officers at 8 o'clock tonight at the Pomona Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Betty Gwen Thompson, past worthy high priestess, and Hal Cuter, past watchman of shepherds in 1970-71, will preside in the East.

Refreshments will be served.

Suppliers

Of California's 200 recognized crops, 5 percent represent nearly 100 percent of the nation's total production. These commodities are: almonds, artichokes, dates, figs, nectarines, olives, pomegranates, prunes, ladino clover seeds and walnuts. — Council of California Growers.

Festival of Gifts charted

The eighth annual Festival of Gifts of Pomona Emblem Club 196 is scheduled Saturday from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Pomona Elks Lodge, 1471 W. Holt Ave.

A luncheon will be served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., according to Mrs. Bob Weddle, club president.

Mrs. William Parsonage is general chairman for the annual bazaar which will be highlighted by a baked goods booth, a Grandmothers booth, a green thumb booth and displays of Christmas decorations and gifts.

The Emblem Club is a national organization dedicated to assisting in the community with charitable and service projects. Funds from the festival will help with the local club's philanthropic programs.

British association sets dinner

A potluck dinner for members is planned Saturday evening by the Transatlantic Brides and Parents Association. Mrs. William Tedford will show slides of her recent trip to England.

The group's regular meeting will be Nov. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the Security Pacific Bank in Upland. A member of the Upland Police Department will discuss narcotics.

The association meets on the third Thursday of each month. Anyone of British birth who is interested in joining may call 985-1708 or 982-0295.

Menu ideas featured by home economists

Menu ideas and traditional recipes for the Christmas-New Year's season will be offered free by Southern California Edison Company home economists in a series of three programs, "Traditional Holiday Favorites."

During each program, the home economist will discuss tips for cutting the cost of home heating and suggest ways to be "watt-wise" with holiday lights.

The public is invited to attend the programs at the following times: Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Imperial Savings, 400 N. Indian Hill Blvd., Claremont; Nov. 20, at 10 a.m. at First Federal Savings and Loan, 2111 Bonita Ave., La Verne; and Nov. 22, at 10 a.m. at Great Western Savings and Loan, 300 Pomona Mall West, Pomona.

Statewide conference scheduled

Four women from the Claremont Chapter of California Women in Higher Education will attend the annual statewide conference Friday through Sunday at the San Jose Hyatt House. They are: Sandi Gibson, Joann Janvonowich, Mary Ellen Mead and Tobe Orrell.

Affirmative action, women's studies and "DDT for campus sexists" will be discussed by college presidents, professors, secretaries, students and other members of California Women in Higher Education.

Keynoting the conference, "Answers," will be a luncheon address Saturday by Congresswoman Yvonne Brathwaite Burke (D-Cal). In 1972, Mrs. Burke was the first woman elected to Congress from California in 20 years and the first black woman ever elected from the state.

Mrs. Burke will be introduced by CWHE member Dr. Margaret Downing Wagner. Dr. Wagner was dean of the faculty at Scripps College before accepting the position of president of Sonoma State College. She is the first woman to head a four-year public college in California.

Mrs. Marquita Strang

Woman honored today

At a luncheon meeting of the Soroptimist Club of Pomona today Mrs. Marquita Strang of La Verne was presented a certificate for her involvement in the Volunteer Vital English program in the valley.

The certificate, from Soroptimist International, was given to Mrs. Strang by Dr. Jessica Haskell, sustaining member, who was program chairman, and Mrs. Sophia Clarke, president. The certificate represents a new national program within the club whereby a woman is recognized for involvement in assisting community women. The program is called "Women helping Women."

Mrs. Strang, who presented the program on Volunteer Vital English before club members, was unaware of her selection as recipient of the certificate prior to the luncheon.

For three years Mrs. Strang has been actively involved in developing and coordinating the volunteer program in Pomona and surrounding communities. Presently, there are more than 150 volunteers teaching in the program, and over 500 people have been helped. Some persons study for several months and others continue English study over the years.

She first became interested in bringing practical help to Spanish-speaking persons in the community when she studied and worked with Nancy Donahue of La Puente, who had been pioneering in that area and had compiled much of the present teaching materials.

Mrs. Strang, who holds a special adult education credential for training people to teach English as a second language, spends much of her time in giving training sessions. She speaks of the VVE program as family oriented for, while some classes and vocational or community information serve Spanish-speaking males, much of the program serves young mothers, the women in the home.

Mrs. Strang, when working in nursery school, became interested in helping the mothers of young children. She is currently carrying on academic studies in Early Childhood Education and occasionally substitutes as a teacher in Pomona Head Start program. She is organizing a Vital English group of mothers of these children.

One of the present special projects involves using recruited help for translating the practical English lesson materials into many languages.

Mrs. Strang was presented a special certificate of appreciation in May, 1973, by the Los Angeles County Commission on Human Relations in recognition of her unselfish devotion and community involvement leading to betterment of her community. In April, 1973, The Pomona Valley Chapter of Gemco Charitable and Scholarship Foundation awarded $150 to VVE because of its service to the community.

Xerox Company's Pomona branch honored the program recently by granting a six months social service leave with pay to one of its employes, to help with VVE public relations, clinical detail and recruitment of teachers.

A social afternoon is planned by North American Benefit Association Friday at noon. The party will be at the home of Mrs. Jessie Fikel, 1461 W. Mission Blvd., Space 26, Big Mobile Home Park.

Members are asked to bring a sack luncheon and prizes for games. Dessert will be served.

The group's business meeting is slated at 2 p.m. Dec. 6 at the Women's Community Club, 172 W. Monterey St.

Rebekahs to hear student

A social hour will follow the meeting.

THE MARGUERITE PEARSON AWARD IN DRAMA has been established at Scripps College in memory of Miss Pearson who died in 1972. It will be presented at the annual awards convocation in May to the student or students who have demonstrated outstanding talent in acting, play-writing, directing or some other aspect of the theater. Miss Pearson, legal secretary for a Hollywood actors' agency, was always interested in helping young drama students.

MAKE THE SMOG LAW WORK FOR YOU.

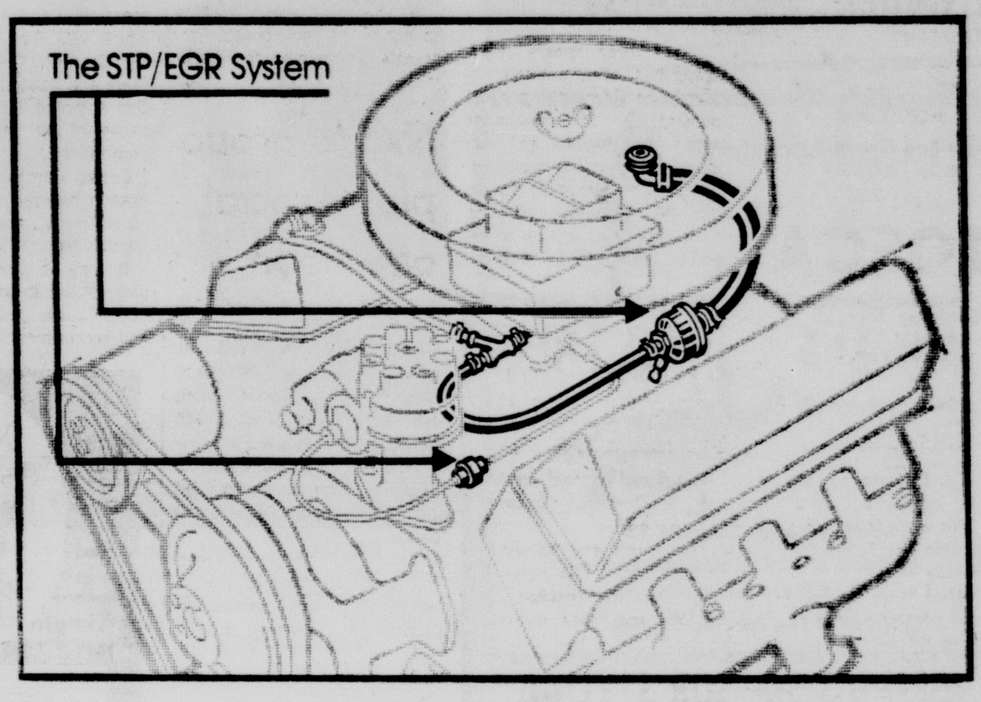
Our STP/EGR System cuts pollution, not performance.*



The law says all 1966-70 cars must have a pollution control device, but that doesn't mean your car's performance has to suffer. The STP/EGR System was engineered by racing professionals who care about performance. The result is a pollution control device that not only maintains performance, but actually adds to it. With better acceleration. And reduced peak engine temperatures.

it works by recirculating a controlled mixture of exhaust gases and fresh air back under the carburetor. And it's so effective in fighting smog that no other approved system can beat it in the reduction of oxides of nitrogen.

The STP/EGR System installs easily and quickly, in less than 20 minutes. So have one put on your car. And cut pollution, not performance.*

CALIFORNIA'S NEW SMOG CONTROLS FOR 1966-1970 MODEL VEHICLES

Throughout California, all 1966-70 model automobiles and most 1966-70 light duty pickups, except those cars and pickups exempt for technical reasons, must be equipped with a device to control oxides of nitrogen (NOx) exhaust emissions before they can be transferred and registered to new owners or first registered in California from another state.

1966-70 model automobiles and light duty pickups owned by residents of Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Ventura, Riverside, Orange and Santa Barbara Counties must be equipped with the devices according to the installation schedule below. Installation is keyed to license plate number. The final digit on the license plate determines the time for installation.

| If your last license plate digit is: | You must have device installed during: | No later than: | If your last license plate digit is: | You must have device installed during: | No later than: |
| 1 | Aug., Sept., 1974 | Sept. 30 | 7 | Mar., 1975 | Mar. 31 |
| 2 | Oct., 1974 | Oct. 31 | 8 | Apr., 1975 | Apr. 30 |

| 6 | Feb., 1975 | Feb. 28 | only | June, 1975 | June 30 |

Compliance with the license plate program will be required as a condition of 1976 renewal of registration of affected 1966-70 models of these vehicles.

This program is mandated by the Legislature (Health & Safety Code, Sections 39176 & 39177.1; Motor Vehicle Code, Sections 4000.1 & 4602).

Music school to hold auditions for singers

The Claremont School of Music will hold auditions for boys 9 to 15 to take part in "Las Cantigas de Sancta Maria," singing to medieval instruments directed by Shirley Robbins.

The group will present the work locally and will tour next spring.

Auditions will be held at St. Ambrose Episcopal Church, Mountain and Bonita avenues, Claremont, from 3 to 5 p.m. next Thursday and Friday.

1st Negro lawyer

Macon B. Allen, in 1845, was the first American Negro formally admitted to the bar, at Worcester, Mass.

HIGH DRAMA — Barry Moore and Robin Marie La Valley are shown in a dramatic scene from the Cal Poly production of "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," Tennessee Williams' Pulitzer Prize play will be staged in the university theater at 8 o'clock tonight through Saturday. Ralph McCormic directs. Tickets are $2 general, and $1.50 for students.

Street Corner Symphony to perform at Cal State

The Street Corner Symphony, a vocal group that performs with only conga drums and tambourines, will present concerts at Zachariah's coffee house at Cal State Fullerton at 7:30 and 10 p.m. Friday. Admission is $2.50.

The five-member group performed at the university's Red, White and Blues series last summer. It has provided background for Barry White, the Jackson Five and the Supremes.

The group is best known for its renditions of such standards as "Lucille" and "Blueberry Hill."

P.C. symphony slates concert

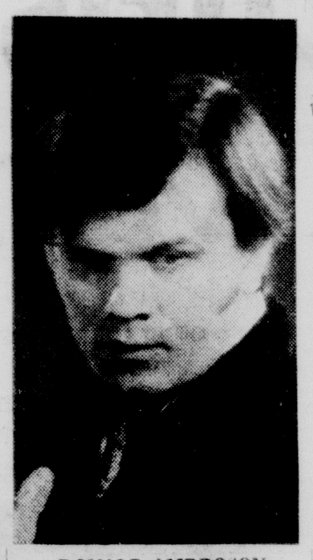
The Pomona College Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Donald Ambroson, will present a concert in Bridges Hall at 8:15 p.m. Friday. Admission is free.

Cellist Mary Ann Campbell, a senior, will be the featured soloist. She will play Haydn's Concerto for Cello and Orchestra in D major.

The orchestra also will play Beethoven's Symphony No. 7 in A Major, and Nielson's "Pan og Syrinx."

Miss Campbell has studied cello for 12 years and currently is a student of Gabor Rejto, music instructor at Pomona College. She plans to attend graduate school next year. A native of Portland, Ore., she has participated in summer music festivals in Claremont and Aspen, Colo.



DONALD AMBROSON

Ambroson is a candidate for the doctor of musical arts degree at US where he is studying conducting with David Lewis and violin with Eudice Shapiro. The conductor received his M.A. degree in music from the Claremont Graduate School. He studied violin with Israel Baker in 1972. He has had extensive conducting experience in the Southern California area. He currently teaches at Pasadena City College and conducts the Pasadena Community College Symphony Orchestra.

Claremont symphony plans concert

The Claremont Symphony Orchestra will open its 22nd season with a concert in Bridges Hall, Pomona College, at 4 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free.

Founder-conductor George Denes returns to the podium after a year's leave of absence, during which the orchestra was led by assistant conductors James Fahringer and James Lytthans.

Eudice Shapiro, nationally known concert violinist, will be soloist, performing Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto in E Minor.

Miss Shapiro, professor of music at USC, has given recitals all over the world and performed with many major symphony orchestras. She has conducted master classes in the United States, New Zealand Australia and the Orient.

She will play her Guarnerius violin known as "Ex-Wieniawski," since it once belonged to the 19th Century composer-violinist.

The orchestra will also play Schumann's Symphony No. 3, Weber's "Euryeanthe" Overture and the first California performance of Dr. Merrill Bradshaw's "Four Mountain Sketches."

Station does brisk business: 3 holdups

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — A self-service gasoline station did a lot of business Sunday and Monday —but mostly it was robbers helping themselves to the cash drawer.

Police said a total of seven robbers held up Otis Porter's Pacer-Fina service station three times. One robber beat up an attendant.

2 Cal Poly groups to perform

Cal Poly's University Concert Choir and Kellogg Chamber Singers will present concerts in the First Baptist Church, Pasadena, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday and in the university theater at 8:15 p.m. Nov. 22.

The chamber singers will perform Schubert's "Gebet" and works by Monteverdi, Puccini, Smetana and Stravinsky.

The choir will sing Mozart's "Regina coeli" and selections by Josquin, Handel, Haydn and Brahms.

Our Christmas Club is 11% merrier.

Wells Fargo pays a full 5% interest on Christmas Club accounts, while California's other four largest banks are still paying 4½%.

The difference between 4½% and 5%, over the one-year period of a Christmas Club maturity, is 11%.

Why settle for less, when the same amount of money over the same period of time can earn 11% more?

Perhaps the hearing of someone you know is not as good as it was when he was younger and he must now wear a hearing aid.

A hearing aid is a sound amplifier — a device that increases the loudness of sounds in the ear of the wearer.

The earliest hearing aid was the ear trumpet. This was a trumpet-shaped instrument. Its small end was placed to the ear. It simply gathered in sound and funneled it into the ear.

They have microphones to pick up sound and amplifiers to make sounds louder.

A button-sized receiver fits in the ear or behind it, depending on the type of hearing defect, and sends sound vibrations to the hearing center. Sometimes, hearing aids are so tiny that you hardly notice them.

Lack of funds will extend queen's reign

SHERIDAN, Wyo. (UPI) — Claire Manning, Miss Indian America, has agreed to hold onto her title another year because the pageant doesn't have sufficient funds to hold another event until next summer.

Miss Manning was due to give up her crown Aug. 4, but she'll stay on now until the 1975 queen is selected.

Miss Manning became Miss Indian America after the resignation of Maxine Norris of Sells, Ariz., who won the pageant in 1973. Miss Manning was the runner-up.

Sought investments

Bismarck, North Dakota, was originally called Edwinton. The rail town changed its name in a promotion effort to attract German investment capital.

Insights on campus today

So—you plan to send your kid to college. Be apprised that it will cost you more now than it would have at any time in our history.

Like nearly everything else in this world, the cost of higher education is on the rise.

A national survey taken by the College Entrance Examination Board outlines the broad effects of inflation. The survey covered 2,200 schools and points out that public and private institutions, two-year and four-year alike, are caught up in the spiral.

Schools are paying more for goods and services and passing along the increases to the "customers".

Certainly, choosing the right college is now more important than ever. And for some, the decision will be even more elementary—whether or not to attend at all.

No look at the economics of a college education would be complete, however, without some consideration of its long-range monetary advantages.

The U.S. Census Bureau has published a report which dramatically illustrates this point of view. It's entitled "Annual Mean Income, Lifetime Income, and Educational Attainment of Men in the United States for Selected Years, 1956 to 1972.

Keeping in mind that these are averages and the government has programmed in only a super conservative 3 per cent annual pay rise, this chart tells you what 22 year-old men with varying amounts of eduction can expect to earn during their lifetimes.

| Level of Education | Lifetime Earnings |
|---|---|
| Less than 8 yrs. | $159,000 |
| Elementary school graduate | 192,000 |
| High school, 1-3 yrs | 216,000 |
| High school graduate | 264,000 |
| College, 1-3 yrs. | 301,000 |
| College graduate | 388,000 |
| College, 5 yrs or more | 443,000 |

In addition, the study produced this information regarding the remaining lifetime earning power of male college graduates of various ages.

| Your age | Lifetime Earnings |
|---|---|
| 25 | $394,000 |
| 30 | 386,000 |
| 35 | 359,000 |
| 40 | 318,000 |
| 45 | 265,000 |
| 50 | 205,000 |
| 55 | 139,000 |
| 60 | 71,000 |

I am not too happy with this second chart. I note the amount of money still to come for a man my age and it occurs to me that I may owe more than that on installment payments alone.

I shall have a word with my wife this evening.

For fat Americans

Starvation diet works

ATLANTA (UPI) — A new intermittent starvation diet for fat Americans who want to lose weight safely and rapidly has been successfully tested on patients at the Clinical Research Facility of Emory University Hospital.

By following the diet, massively obese persons can lose many pounds in a matter of days without harm to their health, according to Dr. Daniel Rudman, professor of medicine and director of the facility.

The main requirement is that participants take mineral supplements to prevent the loss of lean body mass.

Rudman says lean body mass consists of all the working tissues, leaving out fat tissue.

"It is a safe diet," Rudman said. "It makes starvation treatment of overweight persons a safe procedure. It has been tested in 11 patients with good results."

In a total starvation program, about half the weight loss is attributable to loss of lean body mass. The purpose of the Emory studies was to find ways for patient to lose excessive fatty tissues without reducing their essential tissues, such as muscle, bone and the functioning parts of the body.

The patients were allowed to drink as much water as they wished during the weight reduction program.

Eleven massively obese patients together lost a total of more than 275 pounds in the program. Individual losses varied from a low of 16 pounds to a high of 41. They suffered no ill effects aside from being hungry for the first two days and not having as much energy as they normally would, Rudman said.

He said 30 to 40 per cent of the American population is overweight and that 5 per cent is massively overweight. The latter group, he said, are the ones who have need of a safe, crash diet.

The patients admitted to the program over a one-year period, ranged in weight from 190 pounds to 442 pounds.

Egg production

NEW YORK (UPI) — The city's construction industry is riddled with graft and corruption and 170 city employes have taken bribes or been involved in other forms of misconduct, according to an undercover probe of the city Buildings Department.

In addition, 63 persons employed by more than 28 construction firms have been implicated in the corruption.

The findings, resulting from what City Investigations Commissioner Nicholas I. Scoppetta termed "the longest successful undercover operation I've seen," were revealed asked recently at a City Hall news conference.

Mayor Abraham Beame said he was "outraged, shocked and damned angry."

Scoppetta said the evidence developed, including more than 600 hours of taped conversations, implicated some 95 city employes in criminal conduct and an additional 75 employes in other forms of misconduct.

Considering that about 700 persons work in the department, about one of every five employes could face indictment.

ERUPTS INTO BATTLE

A fight started at the Forum Wednesday night when goalie Dunc Wilson of the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Kings' Dan Maloney (27) went at each other in the first period. Kings beat Toronto, 4-0.

Kings' defense stingy

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

INGLEWOOD — The Los Angeles Kings continue to amaze the hockey world.

Their outstanding defense did the job again Wednesday night as the Kings blanked the Toronto Maple Leafs, 4-0 to extend their undefeated streak to nine games.

Goalie Rogie Vachon, who paces the National Hockey League in allowing only 13 goals in 11 games for an average of 1.18, turned aside 35 Toronto shots to register his second shutout of the season.

The win extended Los Angeles' lead in the Division III standings to six points over the Montreal Canadiens, who were defeated earlier in the evening by Buffalo and lost Henri Richard for at least six weeks with a broken ankle.

Los Angeles, 10-1-5 for the season, has won seven and tied two since suffering their only defeat of the season against Philadelphia on Oct. 22.

"I really didn't think we played that well until the third period," said Kings' coach Bob Pulford. "But we played a strong third period. I feel good about this team that we can still win when we play this way. Individually, you have to give Maloney and Vachon credit."

Vachon made several great saves in the first 30 minutes including stopping breakaway attempts by George Ferguson and Jim McKenny.

"I've never been off to a better start," Vachon said. "I don't want to get overconfident but right now I feel like I could stop anyone in the league."

Maloney, who traded punches with Leafs' goalie Dunc Wilson in the first period, scored in the second and third periods — the last with only two seconds left in the game.

"He gave me a couple of chops," Maloney explained. "I figured I'd better give him some retribution. When you step into a goalie's territory, they get very upset."

All three lines contributed to the Kings' scoring.

Mike Murphy opened the attack for the 10,043 customers by scoring early in the first period with Don Kosak adding another goal later in the period.

Another fight erupted in the second period between the Kings' Gene Carr and Tornoto's Dave Dunn. Dunn was penalized 10 minutes for high-sticking and fighting while Carr sat out seven minutes . . .

Toronto took 35 shots to the Kings' 23 but L.A. enjoyed a 12-7 advantage in the third period . . .

The Kings killed three power play attempts by the Leafs Wednesday. They lead the NHL in penalty killing by allowing only seven power play goals in 73 opponent attempts . . .

At this time last year, the Kings were 5-8-2.

Southmen team to beat

By United Press International

The Memphis Southmen ended their first World Football League season undefeated at home and became the team to beat in the playoffs which begin next week.

"This team has a healthy frame of mind," Coach John McVay said after the Southmen ended their regular season with a 28-22 win over the Charlotte Hornets and a 17-3 record Wednesday night. "We're awfully crippled up but we'll be ready—at least as ready as we can be."

Ed Marshall, who caught touchdown passes of seven and 27 yards from backup quarterback Danny White, said the Southmen's really big battles are yet to come.

'If we let down, we knew we were going to get our heads beat off," Marshall said. "That was incentive enough to be ready. But now we don't need incentive. We're going for the big thing—the World Bowl."

Memphis will host Portland in a nationally televised game next Thursday night. Charlotte, now 10-10, will play Florida in Orlando Wednesday night in the playoffs. A Memphis win will put the Southmen's second-round game at home and another victory will place the World Bowl at Memphis Memorial Stadium Dec. 5. Birmingham hosts Philadelphia in the other game.

"I just hope now that we can stretch our winning streak at home to 13 games, running back J.J. Jennings said. "This is really a new season. It's really just beginning now."

The Southmen were never able to take charge against the Hornets, even though they jumped to an early 7-0 lead when David Thomas returned a punt 70 yards and John Harvey ran five yards for the opening td.

Don Highsmith ran four yards to tie the game but Charlotte fell behind at the half when Memphis recovered a fumbled punt and scored on a 27-yard pass from John Huarte to Gary Shirk.

In the other finals Wednesday night, Birmingham crushed Shreveport 40-7 and the Hawaiians made the playoffs with a 23-0 shutout of the Portland Storm. Chicago canceled its game with Philadelphia and Florida is at Southern California tonight for the regular season finale.

Americans 40, Steamer 7

Linebacker Warren Capone ran 29 yards with an interception for one score and set up two other scores with returns of a blocked punt and a fumble as Birmingham routed Shreveport. The Americans finished at 15-5.

Hawaiians 23, Storm 0

Randy Johnson threw a 12yard TD pass to John Isenbarger and Clayton Heath ran 24 yards for another score to carry the Hawaiians past Portland and into the playoffs. Norris Weese threw 20 yards to Grady Richardson on the last play of the game for another TD.

Bruins suffer another injury

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Wally Henry, UCLA's flanker back, is doubtful for the Oregon State game this Saturday because of a sprained knee.

Henry hurt the knee in practice Tuesday and was on the sidelines Wednesday.

He is the Bruins' leading punt returner and second leading receiver with 13 catches.

Coach Dick Vermeil also had some good news. Quarterback Jeff Dankworth, sometimes bothered by knee trouble, is "coming along very strong— running and passing ... he's almost one hundred percent."

Vermeil also tabbed Cliff Frazier, 6-5, 254-pound junior tackle, as rounding into top shape after some trouble with a bad knee.

"We had an excellent practice," said Vermeil. "I don't think we'll be looking past the Beavers to USC."

Sonics impress slumping Lakers

SEATTLE (UPI) — The way the Los Angeles Lakers see it today, the Seattle Sonics have done some improving.

The Lakers were beaten by the Sonics 108-103 Wednesday night.

"This year they have better personnel, are better organized and Archie Clark was one of the biggest steals in a long, long time," was the assessment of Laker Coach Bill Sharman. "I knew Bill (Russell) would get it together up here. I was just hoping not this quickly."

And Laker Pat Riley, asked if the Sonics are for real this time, responded tersely, "Hell, yes."

Of course, it was the fourth straight loss for the Lakers. Nonetheless, coach Bill Russell had no regrets.

"I like the way my guys played tonight," he said after the game.

The Lakers, in fact, look like they were making a comeback when, inside the final seven minutes, L.A. ate up all of the 14-point deficit to Seattle from the second period and provided a 92-92 standoff.

It was a new ballgame, but in the closing stretch the Sonics defense held up, including blocked shots by Tom Burleson, Spencer Haywood and Fred Brown.

Although the Lakers lost the game, Pat Riley was high point man with 25, followed by Haywood's 24 for Seattle. For the Lakers, Gail Goodrich, Zelmo Beaty and Lucius Allen were all in double figures. For Seattle, Clark, Brown and Jim Fox also were in double figures.

Special group to save Orioles for Baltimore

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A special commission seeking to retain the Orioles for Baltimore has announced agreement with Orioles' board chairman Jerald C. Hoffberger to purchase the team for $12 million.

The agreement on purchase price apparently was one of the major hurdles toward buying the team, which will be financed half by city revenue bonds and half through private investors.

Hoffberger, who could not immediately be reached for comment, gave the blue ribbon commission until Nov. 23 to come up with $5 million, or one half of its initial offer of $10 million for the club. At the time, the final purchase price was uncertain.

But the commission announced Wednesday it had arranged for $6 million in private capital to meet Hoffberger's terms. Ralph Dechiaro, a suburban developer heading the group trying to buy the team, said the purchase price agreement means his group "does have the $6 million in private money in hand."

Dechiaro said the Internal Revenue Service has placed a limit of $5 million on tax-free municipal bonds for private business purposes, a matter which the city solicitor's office said would be studied.

Despite the potential problem of the bond sale, city officials were optimistic.

Mayor William D. Schaefer, who appointed the commission last month, said he was "thrilled to know that the Orioles will be staying in Baltimore."

Which Sun team will play tonight?

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

ANAHEIM — Coach Tom Fears of the Southern California Sun is probably wondering which Sun team will show up tonight when the Florida Blazers visit Anaheim Stadium.

The game, originally scheduled Wednesday night at 8 p.m. was put on the national television schedule (blacked out in Southern California) necessitating the switch to 6 p.m. tonight.

But since clinching the Western Division title with a 29-25 win over the Birmingham Americans nearly a month ago, the team has done a complete about face.

The defense has been on vacation and the offense can be described in three words, inadequate, ineffective and ordinary.

Since clinching the division championship, the Sun was trounced by the Philadelphia Bell (45-7); came back to defeat the Charlotte Hornets (formerly New York Stars), 34-25; and was very unimpressive in dropping a 29-8 game to Hawaii last week.

"We played like we were on vacation in Hawaii," Fears said. "I don't expect to see a repeat of that performance tonight. We've got to be ready to play in this game and in the playoffs next week."

Regular season play ends tonight. The Sun takes on the Hawaiians next Thursday night at 6 p.m. in another nationally televised game.

Tonight's game pits a pair of division champions against each other. The Blazers won the Eastern Division title and sports the same record (13-6) as the Sun.

Tommy Reamon of the Blazers is the league's leading rusher. The 5-9, 191-pound rookie from Missouri has 1508 yards on 368 carries for a 4.1 average and 11 touchdowns.

Former NFL veteran Bob Davis is the Blazer quarterback. Davis has completed 217 of 392 passes for 2,772 yards and 19 touchdowns to rank third in the league in yardage. His completion percentage, .554, is tops.

Davis' weakness has been interceptions. He is second to the Bell's King Corcoran with 23. Corcoran has been intercepted 24 times.

However Adams' favorite targets, James McAlister and Dave Williams, will not play tonight. Both are recovering from sprained ankles.

"We're hurting at fullback," Fears said. Not only is McAlister out but so is backup man Greg Herd. "Herd also has a sprained ankle as well as a bruised thigh and a bruised shoulder.

"They probably could play if a title was at stake, but I don't want to use them and take a chance on getting reinjured as we go into the playoffs."

So the Sun will go shorthanded into a game against the league's second best rushing and passing defense and best scoring defense.

Fears just hopes the team that went 12-4 will show up rather than the one that has gone 1-2 in the last three games.

Rams waive rookie safety

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Rams have waived rookie defensive back Maurice Spencer, who was signed by the club only a week ago.

The Rams picked up Spencer as a free agent last week after he was waived by the St. Louis Cardinals. Spencer, a safety, played in all of the Cardinals' first seven games.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — In the second half of the Los Angeles Rams' 21-0 victory over Atlanta Sunday, coach Chuck Knox started Heisman Trophy winner John Cappelletti ahead of Jim Bertelsen.

"It felt pretty good," smiled the former Penn State All-America. "I thought I caught the ball pretty good, ran pretty well and did some fair blocking.

"I don't think anybody likes to sit on the bench. But you have to realize your situation coming into the pros and know it takes time to break into the lineup.

In addition to Cappelletti and Bertelsen, the Rams happen to have the No. 1 rusher in the NFL in second-year man Lawrence McCutcheon. In nine games, McCutcheon has amassed 859 yards on 170 carries, a 5.1 average.

Bertelsen has gained 325 yards on 101 carries for a 3.2 average. Cappelletti is the club's No. 3 rusher with 124 yards on 33 tries, a 3.8 average.

"There are a lot of adjustments coming into the pros from college," Cappelletti said. "I've learned how to block. Or rather I'm learning. I'm learning a whole new system. It's hard to do it all overnight.

"I just wanted to come out here and adjust to the situation the best I could. My goal was to make the Rams and absorb as much as I could."

The Rams have won four in a row and seven of nine NFL starts. They can clinch their division—the NFC West—Sunday with a win at New Orleans.

"It's hard to talk about the Super Bowl right now," said Los Angeles' No. 1 draft choice in 1973. "But I'll say this. If we continue to play like we've been playing and we continue to improve a bit in each game, we'll go into the playoffs with a lot of confidence in ourselves. We'll believe we can get things done."

Coach Chuck Knox of the Rams has been criticized for playing it too close to the vest this season and letting his defense take care of the rest. The Ram defense has allowed only 100 points while the offense has totaled 170.

"Sometimes you prepare to do certain things in a game and then the defense does things differently than you've prepared for," Cappelletti stated. "Then you have to go with your basic things that you do the best.

"Sometimes they may seem conservative but you get the job done. The end result is what counts, not how you get the job done."

La Verne end plays, coaches and works

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

By day he attends La Verne where he majors in both physical education and Behavorial Sciences. At night (or at least after dark since the sun sets early these days), VanderKallen directs practices of the Ontario 49ers, a midget division Pop Warner football team of which he is the head coach.

"It's my fourth year as a coach in Pop Warner football," he said, and added, "I also coached the sophomore team at Chaffey High for a year and was an assistant football coach one year at Alta Loma High."

"We'll play a Hawaiian team on Kauai, the smallest island," he explained. "Last year they came over here and played us. We were invited to play on Maui too, but that would add too much to our expenses and we'd have to keep the kids out of school longer."

As it is a party of more than 70 people will leave about Dec. 5 and return Dec. 10. In addition to 31 players, there will be approximately 30 parents, VanderKallen and his three assistant coaches, four cheerleaders, the team manager and the team mother.

Francis, an older brother of Roy VanderKallen, La Verne's fine young tailback, is a very pleasant young man who bubbles enthusiastically about his various interests which include his studies at La Verne, Pop Warner football and his job.

He is an assistant parole agent for the Ontario Parole and Community Center.

"I enjoy working with people with problems," VanderKallen said. "Everybody has problems of some kind. We've had 'em in our family. My dad passed way early and my mom has done a wonderful job raising 12 kids."

Francis has encountered some problems of his own in playing football. He was a defensive lineman at Chaffey High although he was only 5-7 and 133 pounds. At Chaffey College, the height was the same but he added five pounds.

He's still 5-7. "But I've got my roster weight listed as 175 pounds," he grinned. Asked what he really weighed, he replied, "right now I weigh 148 pounds."

Francis did not go into college right away after graduating from Chaffey. In fact he "sat out a year" right after he finished high school and also after graduating from Chaffey College.

"Nobody wanted me when I finished high school," he laughed. "So I coached the sophomore team at Chaffey the next year. When I finished Chaffey College I was supposed to go to Redlands, but they wouldn't allow me to bring a car and I needed the car so I could continue coaching Pop Warner and also keep my job. So I turned it down."

VanderKallen wound up at La Verne. "I'm sure glad I came to La Verne," he enthused. "I can get my degree, play football, coach Pop Warner and keep my job. I have too many responsibilities to go anywhere else."

From his attitude it is apparent Francis is thoroughly pleased with and totally committed to the entire La Verne program

"The whole place is unique," he exclaimed. "It's the only place I know of where you call everybody, coaches, instructors, all of them by first names.

"La Verne is the first place I've been where everybody likes the head coach. Nobody ever says anything bad about Ort (head coach Roland Ortmayer) or La Verne.

"I tell my friends to stop by and watch us practice," VanderKallen continued. "They can see how much we enjoy it. Last week Casey O'Gorman (defensive back) had a 'hat day.' Nobody wore helmets to practice, just funny hats or caps. Ort heard about it and came out wearing a big white western hat. The guys loved it."

An further insight into the "La Verne way" of football was provided by VanderKallen's description of the day he played his first game at La Verne.

"At most places," he related, "the locker room is pretty quiet. Everybody is thinking about the game. At La Verne everybody either seemed to be whistling, singing, or laughing. They were all obviously happy and very loose. I was sitting there not doing or saying anything and Ort came over. 'I don't want you to play the game in the locker room,' he told me, 'save it for the football field.' "

Prather wanted to carry the ball

When it comes right down to it, Roy Prather is very offensive. It doesn't have anything to do with his manners. He just likes to carry the football.

That's why he ended up at Citrus College where he is on his way to becoming the fourth running back in the school's history to rush for 1,000 yards or more.

Prather prepped at Arcadia High, part of the Pasadena City College district. But he didn't think he'd play much there. Or the position he wanted to play.

"I really didn't want to go there (Pasadena)," said the 5-10, 180-pound freshman. "The coach said he'd try me out at defensive back. I came over to Citrus with three other Arcadia players and I liked it."

Coach John Strycula happened to be looking for a tailback. Doug Hopper, the schoool's all-time leading rusher with more than 1,400 yards in 1973, had transferred to Cal State L.A.

Prather came with better than average high school credentials — 830 yards rushing in his senior year. But didn't get much notice from four-year colleges, probably because he played on a team that had a 2-6-1 record.

Prather will zero in on 1,000 yards Saturday night when the Owls go for their eighth win in a row against Saddleback College in a key Mission Conference football game at Citrus Stadium.

Prather upped his rushing total to 927 yards on 159 carries and a 6.5 average last week as the Owls smashed Palomar, 55-24. Prather gained 154 yards and scored three touchdowns. He has nine TDs for the season.

Prather needs just 73 yards to hit the 1,000-yard milestone, and he says that, winning the conference championship and getting into the playoffs are his goals for the season.

The owls can accomplish the latter with wins over Saddleback this week and Grossmont a week hence. Both teams, like Citrus, are unbeaten in conference play but have ties marring their records, including a 27-27 deadlock when they played each other.

While Citrus is playing Saddleback Saturday, Grossmont hosts Palomar, Chaffey hosts San Diego in an afternoon game (2 p.m.) and San Bernardino visits Riverside.

The Mission Conference championsip could set-up the possibility of a rematch between Citrus and Mt. San Antonio, should MSAC win the South Coast Conference title.

The only blemish on Citrus' record is a 14-14 tie with the Mounties in the season opener.

"I think we'd all like to play them again," said Prather. "We're a much improved team since that game. Maybe they are too."

Barber off his game--still leads

By PHIL ROCHE
P-B Staff Writer

Jerry Barber, the Griffith Park pro who won the National PGA championship in 1961, is as handy as ever in tournament play. He was a bit off his game Wednesday at Via Verde Country Club, but he fired a one over par 73 to lead the 54-hole Southern California Open by one stroke with a 143 total.

Barber opened play with a two-under par 70 on Tuesday. Trailing Barber at 144 are Alex Sandahl of Lake Tahoe and John Schamp, Van Nuys. Both shot 71s Wednesday.

The winds died down at Via Verde for the second round, but the slick hard greens at the San Dimas course were difficult to read, and pros were "lipping the cup" all day long. Scores were higher than expected.

Opening day leader Craig McCallister of Studio City skied to a disastrous 79 Wednesday after a nifty 69 on opening day. He is five strokes off the pace at 148 and tied with Via Verde professional Jimmy Powell, who posted scores of 75 and 73.

Two strokes behind Barber at 145 are Bill Hartley (75-70) and Howie Johnson (71-74). At 146 are Joe Jones (72-74), Dennis Meyer (74-72) and Jeff Hewes (74-72).

Tied at 147 are Russ Fraser (74-73), Bill Fiel (72-75) and Gary Preuss (76-71).

With Powell and McCallister at 148 are Kurt Johansson (74-74) and Rick Talt (74-74). Steve Applegate (74-75) and Rick Divel (75-74) were tied at 149.

The 74th annual Open tournament winds up play today and some pros are predicting that even par (216) for the three days might win the $1,500 top prize.

Pop Warner loop sets Championship Bowl

The Mt. Baldy Conference of Pop Warner youth football teams has announced its Championship Bowl will be held Sunday, November 24, at Chaffey High's Graber Field.

Six Mt. Baldy division winners will compete in three championship contests on the 24th. The Eastern and Western Division winners in the Pee Wee League will play at 1 p.m., the Jr. Pee Wee division champs will kickoff at 3 p.m., and the Midgets play at 4:30 p.m.

While the participating teams have been decided in the Pee Wee and Midget groupings, a playoff is on tap in Jr. Pee Wee play.

The San Dimas-La Verne Tartars and the Fontana Hawks finished regular-season play tied for first place in the Jr. Pee Wee Western Division standings. The two teams meet this Sunday at Chino High at 1 p.m. to decide which squad will meet Eastern Division titlist the Fontana Falcons in the Championship Bowl.

A big matchup should occur in the Pee Wee Championship game, where the defending champion Pomona Bruins squad tackles the undefeated Ontario Packers. The Packers were the only team to beat Pomona during the regular league season and are also the squad the Bruins beat last year to take home the Championship Bowl trophy.

In the Midget championship contest, the Pomona Bengals meet Eastern Division winner the Fontana Bucks. Fontana went through the league without a loss and will provide a rugged foe for the Pomona team.

Flyers win accidentally

By United Press International

Only the kind of team that can play like the Philadelphia Flyers can afford to talk like them.

Picture a scene, for example, where a coach says winning or losing isn't important, it's how you play the game ... and saying it like he means it.

Or, how about the team hero proclaiming that he really wasn't trying to win the game; all he wanted to do was not lose it.

Accept it or not, this was the scenario Wednesday night after Philadelphia nipped the New York Rangers 3-2 on a goal by Bobby Clarke with only 15 seconds left. Clarke blocked a shot by New York's Gilles Marotte and then carried the puck all by himself before beating Ed Giacomin with a sharp 40-foot drive.

Remarkably, it was only the second victory in eight years for Philadelphia in Madison Square Garden. Even when they ousted the Rangers en route to their Stanley Cup championship last season, the Flyers were unable to win a single playoff game in New York.

"At that time of the game, you just want to make sure the other team doesn't score," Clarke said about his winning goal. "I was lucky to block Marotte's shot. I was just trying to stop it so it wouldn't go through and it hit the shaft of my stick. How often does something like that happen?"

When Clarke gained control of the puck, the Flyers had a 2-on-1 break with their captain skating up the right side and Bill Barber on the left. Brad Park was defending between them. Clarke said he didn't consider passing to Barber because, again, his main concern was not losing the game and he was afraid of a pass being intercepted and the Rangers gaining a break of their own.

The victory was the 12th against only three losses and two ties for the Flyers but Coach Fred Shero nevertheless remarked, "I don't judge by the wins and losses but by how good the team plays. I don't care whether we win or lose as long as I know we're doing things right."

Two other teams that seem to be doing almost everything right this season are Buffalo and Los Angeles and both continued their winning ways Wednesday night. Buffalo ran its unbeaten string to nine games and registered its first victory ever in the Montreal Forum by bombing the Canadiens 8-6 and Los Angeles, with only a single loss in 16 outings, trimmed Toronto 4-0.

In other National Hockey League action, Kansas City won for the first time at home with a 5-3 decision over St. Louis, Pittsburgh handed the New York Islanders their fifth consecutive defeat 8-2, Atlanta edged Washington 4-3, Minnesota beat Detroit 7-4, and California shut out Chicago 2-0.

Flyers 3, Rangers 2

Tom Bladon and Orest Kindrachuk gave Philadelphia a 2-0 lead before Bill Fairbairn and Jerry Butler tied it for the Rangers in the second period. The Flyers maintained a fivepoint lead over runnerup Atlanta in Division 1 with the Rangers last, 11 points back.

Sabers 8, Canadiens 6

Rene Robert, who says he particularly likes to do well against Montreal "as I don't see eye to eye with (Coach) Scotty Bowman," registered the second hat trick of his NHL career. Guy Lapointe also had three goals in a losing cause for the Canadiens, who fell six points behind Los Angeles in Division 3. Buffalo leads Division 4 by by seven points over idle Boston.

Scouts 5 Blues 3

Jim McElmury and Richard Lemieux scored 57 seconds apart in the second period to lift Kansas City to its second triumph in 14 games. Ace Bailey had two goals for St. Louis.

Penguins 8, Islanders 2

Syl Apps, playing in his 300th NHL game, and linemate Lowell MacDonald each had two goals and two assists in leading Pittsburgh's rout. Jean Pronovost, the right wing on that line, added a goal and two assists.

Flames 8, Capitals 3

North Stars 7, Red Wings 4

Seals 2, Black Hawks 0

Hooker predicts big things

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

Leon Hooker, Cal Poly's big defensive tackle, is predicting big things for the Broncos next season and he plans to play a big part in any success.

It's not that this season is a major disappointment. Poly concludes its finest campaign since 1962 Saurday afternoon at Cal State Hayward but the goal of winning a California Collegiate Athletic Association title fell short.

"I guess the breaks went against us," Hooker, a 6-foot-3, 250-pound transfer from Citrus College, said. "We should be real good next year."

Hooker, who was named the defensive collegiate player of the week in the valley for his part in holding Cal State Northridge in last week's 14-12 win over the Matadors, is already planning his off-season preparations.

"First of all, I'm going to take two weeks off," Hooker said with a smile, "then I'll start on a weight program. I want to lose 20 pounds and work on getting more quickness with my hands."

A product of Monrovia High, Hooker felt he matured at Citrus under the coaching of John Strycula and has developed further at Poly thanks to head coach Andy Vinci and defensive coordinator Tom Hoffman.

"Leon played his best game of the season against Northridge," Hoffman explained. "He is the hardest working lineman on our team and has improved the most, thanks mostly to his great attiude."

Vinci and his crew are already hinking about their prize recruits for next season but ending the season with a win Saturday is the prime goal.

"A 6-2-2 record is a lot better than 5-3-2," Vinci said. "I think we are going in the right direction with the best record in 12 years."

Poly has been playing them close this season. The only game the Broncos never enjoyed a lead was in the 14-14 tie against Cal Poly San Luis Obispo while there have been only two games in which they never trailed.

The two losses were by six points in bowing to San Francisco State (21-17) and CCAA champion UC Riverside (17-15). Poly ended up by scoring and allowing the same number of points, 65, in CCAA play. The Broncos tied SLO AND Cal State Los Angeles then lost to UCR by two and finished conference action by edging Cal State Northridge by two.

Poly played its weakest game of the season last week in barely beating a Northridge club which has lost eight in a row.

Vinci claims the gusty winds at Northridge were a great equalizer as it greatly affected the passing and kicking games. "It was very difficult to execute the plays we have been doing," he said.

Harris scored both touchdowns for the Broncs with the game-winner in the third quarter being a 74-yard gallop.

The freshman from Indio rushed for 171 yards on 28 carries. Harris has gained more than 100 yards in two of his three starts with 94 in the other. He has 398 yards for the season on 83 carries for a 4.7 average per play.

They make Binky go-go-go

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

When Binky Benton, the Mt. San Antonio College tailback, reaches 1,000 yards this season, he'll have the people in front of him to thank — and he will.

"He's the first back I've ever blocked for who will come over to you after a play or the game and say 'good job'," says offensive tackle Jerrel Smith.

"He really gives you a feeling of confidence when he's in there," the former Garey High lineman added.

Smith is part of the veteran Mountie line which has opened up the holes Benton has run through for 951 yards and five touchdowns this season.

With only 49 yards to go to reach 1,000, the 5-foot-7, 175-pound Benton will probably reach the milestone sometime in the first half of Saturday night's key South Coast Conference game with Fullerton at Anaheim Stadium.

That game will be decided, as most are, up front in the trenches, where the Mountie line will try to solve the tricky Fullerton defense.

"Fullerton stunts a lot," explained guard Gary Serna, a Ganesha High product. "We have to pick up our blocks quicker."

"It's just my opinion," Smith added, "but when a team starts stunting, they've got a weakness there someplace. I think we have the quickest offensive line in the conference. It's just a matter of timing, of getting off with the ball together."

The Mountie line and Benton were stymied by Orange Coast. Benton was limited to a little more than 50 yards in the conference opener three weeks ago.

"They weren't too big," says Serna, "but they were awfully quick. They'd stand off and challenge us to come and get them."

Since then, Benton has gained more than 400 yards in two MSAC victories — 17-16 over Cerritos and last week's 22-17 win over Santa Ana.

For the season, the Mounties are only 2-4-2, but coaches and players think the team has finally jelled and have a real chance to win its next two games to finish 4-4-2 overall and gain at least a share of the South Coast title.

"This is the best blocking group I've had here," Craig says of the offensive unit. "They're not as quick as they could be but we're two-deep at each position and when we need quickness we can substitute to get it."

Besides Smith (6-3, 235) and Serna (5-10, 195), Craig starts either Kermit Pace (5-11, 210) or Dan Brooks (5-9, 170) at center, Tom Rutten (5-10, 190) at guard and Bob Costeldia (6-3, 270) at tackle.

Cal Poly conducts water polo finals

Cal Poly, Pomona, still clinging to hopes of a berth in the National Collegiate Athletic Association championships November 22 and 23 in Long Beach, will host the California Collegiate Athletic Association championships Friday and Saturday.

Action will begin both days in the Bronco pool at 9:30 a.m.

CPU enters the championships with a 4-0 conference slate and would have to lose two of the four matches during the two day tournament to lose the title.

"I'm not saying that's impossible but very doubtful," said a confident CPU coach Stan Jackson. "We're dedicating ourselves to the fact we want to run up an 8-0 conference mark and then look to the national selection committee for a berth in the nationals."

Four victories this weekend would give Cal Poly, Pomona an overall 21-7 mark with impressive victories over Stanford, Long Beach State and San Diego State.

The Broncos will start the conference tournament action at 9:30 a.m. Friday against UC Riverside and will next be in the tank against Cal State Los Angeles at 12:30 p.m. The Diablos come into the CCAA tournament with an overall 20-4 record and 3-1 in conference action.

In the only head-to-head meeting between CPU and the CSLA squads the Broncos posted a 16-9 victory.

Other first day action includes Cal Poly, SLO going against Cal State Northridge, 11 a.m; SLO taking on UC Riverside at 2 p.m.; and in the Friday finale it will be CSLA against Northridge.

Saturday's action will start off with Northridge and Riverside the first two teams in the pool followed by an 11 a.m. match between CSLA and Cal Poly, SLO. Cal Poly, Pomona and Northridge will go at 12:30 p.m. while CSLA and UC Riverside tangle in a 2 p.m. match.

Final match of the two-day tournament will feature the traditional battle between the two Cal Poly squads beginning at 3:30 p.m.

Azusa tackles CSLA

Azusa Pacific, enrollment 1,100, will battle Cal State Los Angeles, enrollment 25,000, at 1 p.m. on Diablo field at Cal State L.A.

Azusa is 3-4 for the season in losing three in a row while Cal State L.A. is 4-2-1 but haven't enjoyed a victory in a month.

APC's biggest offensive threat is halfback Jim Farmer, who has rushed for 702 yards in the Cougars' seven games.

Cal State, coached by Claremont resident Jim Williams, will rely on quarterback Rick Holoubek plus his favorite receivers, Doug Hopper and Billy Derrick.

Horse tramples racing director

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Pres Jenuine, 65, the director of racing for Western Harness Racing, suffered a skull injury Wednesday when a loose harness horse ran him down while he watched morning workouts.

Jenuine also suffered two fractured ribs and numerous lacerations in the accident. He was reported in satisfactory condition at Daniel Freeman Hospital following surgery. Doctors said he had a depressed skull fracture.

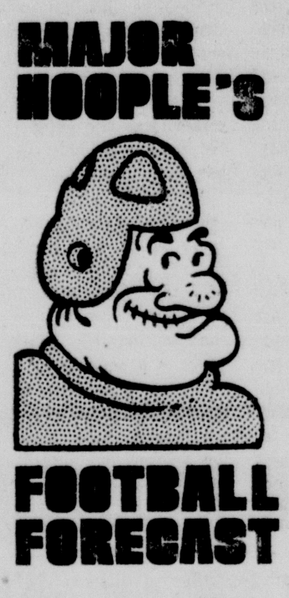
Wolfpack will solve SAL scramble with fourth title

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
The Wizard of Odds



Egad' sports fans, the San Antonio League mess will finally be cleared up. And — haff, kaff — only one (you heard it here) team will win the championship.

Claremont High, long remembered for its championships in 1964, 1968 and 1972, will emerge as the lone SAL king when it knocks off host Damien, 21-6. They needed help, however. And they got it.

Upland will dump Ganesha out of the title picture by outrunning and outgunning the Giants, 24-21. Meanwhile, Pomona will finish second with an 18-0 blanking of host Montclair.

Bonita High will remain undefeated for the regular season, and it'll do convincingly with a 14-0 win over San Dimas.

And get this, Mustang fans, Walnut will slip past Sierra Vista, 18-14, and gain a surprising berth in the CIF playoffs — karumph!

On the college scene, Cal Poly will have some trouble with Cal St. Hayward, 24-20, while La Verne will be the only local SCIAC team to fall — losing to visiting conference-leading Redlands, 18-7.

It won't be a very exciting game, but Claremont-Mudd will pull itself up from the depths of the SCIAC cellar with a 14-6 win over Occidental.

Mt. San Antonio College's bid to stay on top of the South Coast Conference standings will fail when the Mounties bow to Fullerton 24-22.

Here we are with only one game to play before collegiate football's Super Saturday which will decide the Big Ten, the Big Eight, the Pacific Eight and Ivy League races, as well as the Rose Bowl representative and maybe even the national title!

However, before they get to their momentous meetings on Nov. 23, the Ohio State Buckeyes and Michigan Wolverines, the Oklahoma Sooners and Nebraska Cornhuskers, the Southern California Trojans and UCLA Bruins, and the Yale Bulldogs and Harvard's Crimson have some unfinished business to attend to this weekend.

The Buckeyes of — kaff-kaff — old friend Woody Hayes, angry at the world, will pulverize Iowa 44-7 at Iowa City. Bo Schembechler's Wolves will have a more difficult time of it suppressing the invading Purdue Boilermakers by a 22-20 count.

Oklahoma's point-happy Sooners will make their journey at Lawrence, Kansas, a profitable one as they whip the Jayhawks, 48-21. Meanwhile, at Lincoln, the Nebraska Cornhuskers will prove to be rude hosts as they vanquish Kansas State 47-18. 'T will be a bad day all around for the Kansas elevens — um-kumph

Southern California's Trojans who — heh-heh — have performed this year like the little boy who "when he is good is very; very good and when he is bad is horrid," figure, according to the Hoople calculations, to be on their good-behavior this Saturday. We foresee a 35-18 win for the Trojans over the Washington Huskies. The Bruins of UCLA should have little trouble disposing of Oregon State by a comfortable margin, 42-13.

My beloved Yale — Boola-Boola — will warm up for THE GAME against Harvard by trouncing Princeton, 37-13. And John Harvard's lads will have an equally easy time of it rolling over Brown 33-6.

A pair of other contests worthy of your special attention match Utah and Utah State for the 73rd time, and Alabama and the Hurricanes under the moon over Miami — kaff-kaff!

In their great intra-state rivalry the Utah State Aggies will defeat the Utes, 36-28, at the Aggies Romney Stadium. Alabam's Crimson Tide, looking ahead to a bowl bid, will douse the Hurricanes by an impressive margin, 37-14 — har-rumph!

Boat Show adds special features

Special features will supplement the more than 700 pleasure craft on display at the 19th annual 1975 Los Angeles Boat Show, opening Friday for 10 days at the downtown Los Angeles Convention Center.

Show hours are 2-10:30 p.m., weekdays; 12-10:30 p.m., Saturdays; and 12-7 p.m., Sundays.

Adventurers George Sigler and Charles Gore will be displaying their 15-foot survival raft and talking of their experiences during an amazing 56-day survival mission in the Pacific this summer.

Sigler and Gore set out to prove that man could live long periods in a hostile environment. But what they hadn't planned on was a giant storm that overturned their small raft and caused most of their provisions to go overboard.

Mike Reagan, 29, son of the California governor, will be on hand with his Fantasy 19 ski boat that he is planning to drive to Hawaii next spring. It would be the first time such a voyage had ever been accomplished in such a small boat.

Cecil Gates' battleship, an 18-foot replica of the USS Massachusetts, will be on display. Gates' battleship even fires from its gun turrets . . . water, that is.

Hearing set on clamming

Plans to close one San Luis Obispo County beach area to Pismo clamming while opening two other areas that have been closed for many years will be presented by the Department of Fish and Game at a public hearing Thursday night, Nov. 14.

The hearing will be held in the Board of Supervisors chambers in San Luis Obispo at 7:30 p.m. Fish and Game Commissioner Timothy Doheny of Los Angeles will preside.

The Department of Fish and Game's proposal to close Atascadero State Beach to taking of Pismo clams between Morro Rock and Toro Pt. came after surveys earlier this year showed an exceptionally large number of young Pismo clams in that area.

The closure is intended to protect these clams until they reach legal size for clam diggers. South of Monterey County the legal size is four and a half inches, and biologists estimate it will take about five years for the young clams to reach that size.

The department also is asking for the opening of two other areas that have been closed for 12 years. These areas are the beaches between Hazard Canyon and lower Morro Bay and between Big Cayucos Creek and Old Creek.

Trout plant

The following lakes and streams, listed by county, are scheduled for restocking this week with catchable-size rainbow trout from Department of Fish and Game hatcheries:

LOS ANGELES — Castaic Lake, Hanson Dam, Legg Lake, Puddingstone Reservoir, Pyramid Lake.

SAN DIEGO — Cuyamaca Reservoir.

VENTURA — Piru Lake.

SAN BERNARDINO — Big Bear Lake, Silverwood Lake.

Pads to open camp March 5

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The San Diego Padres will open their spring training camp in Yuma, Ariz., March 5, it was announced today. The Padres will play 12 exhibition games at their Yuma home field, beginning April 5 against the Chicago White Sox.

DFG eyes reserve on Upper Newport Bay

Years of uncertainty over the ultimate use of Upper Newport Bay appeared near an end today with an announcement by the Orange County Board of Supervisors that it was considering settlement of a claim of back taxes on Upper Bay land owner by The Irvine Company. A decision is to be made Tuesday, Nov. 19.

Settlement of the tax question is the last major obstacle to sale of the land to the California Department of Fish and Game and designation of Upper Newport Bay as an ecological reserve.

In Sacramento, Fish and Game Director G. Ray Arnett confirmed that the department had reached an agreement with The Irvine Company to acquire approximately 527 acres of Upper Bay lowlands for $3,481,000, provided the tax question and other legal problems were resolved.

Arnett said the 527 acres would comprise the major part of a 741-acre publicly owned reserve, largest of its type in the state. The remaining 214 acres of the reserve would be tidelands now held in trust by the County of Orange.

"It is our hope," Arnett said, "That the Board of Supervisors would join with the Department of Fish and Game to seek from the Legislature an ammendment to its tidelands grant which will permit use of the tidelands as an ecological reserve."

The grant now specifies the tidelands must be used for a harbor or related development.

Arnett said he was pleased that at last it appeared Upper Newport Bay could be preserved in a natural state.

"The marshes, mudflats and tidal waters of the bay comprise what has become a critical resource, critical in the sense that more than two-thirds of the coastal marshes in California have already been lost and critical because many populations of wildlife are dependent on its food and shelter for survival," Arnett said. "The purpose of an ecological reserve is to protect, maintain and enhance this critical resource. It also provides for public use compatible with such protection."

In reviewing the progress of negotiations toward placing Upper Newport Bay into public ownership, Arnett said he was especially appreciative of the sincerity and interest of Ralph Clark, chairman of the Orange County Board of Supervisors, and Raymond Watson, president of The Irvine Company, in resolving the many complex issues pertaining to the acquisition.

The property to be acquired from The Irvine Company is the lowlands up to a 10-foot contour line above sea level from Shellmaker Island just north of Pacific Coast Highway on the south to Jamboree Road on the north.

Payment for the land would be made within five years of conveyance of the land to the state or the property would revert to The Irvine Company.

James B. McCormick, who negotiated the agreement for the Department of Fish and Game, said he was confident the $3,481,000 would be raised within the next five years.

"The concept of an Upper Newport Bay ecological reserve has broad support from governmental agencies, conservation groups and the general public," he said.

McCormick said he could expect a substantial appropriation for the fiscal year 1975-76 from the wildlife portion of the 1974 Park and Recreation Bond Act. He said the availability of this money could be used to request matching funds from federal sources and to pursue other funding.

He noted that at its Oct. 25 meeting in Sacramento, the California Wildlife Conservaion Board approved the expenditure of $3 million for the acquisition of coastal wetlands.

Pheasant plants scheduled

In preparation for the opening of pheasant season on Saturday, the Department of Fish and Game has scheduled release of 19,500 adult pheasants in Southern California and Inyo County.

The largest release, numbering 13,700 birds, will be made on farmlands in the Imperial Valley, from Niland and Westmoreland southward through the Calexico area.

Locations for releases are chosen in advance by members of the Imperial County Fish and Game Commission and can change from year to year, depending on farming operations in the area. Alfalfa and harvested milo fields where hunting will cause no agricultural damage are the favored locations.

In addition to choosing the release sites, members of the county commission also assist Department of Fish and Game personnel in releasing the birds.

In the Palo Verde Valley along the Colorado River south of Blythe the department will free 1,600 pheasants. These releases will be made along the west mesa from Palo Verde north to 29th Avenue and in fields in the vicinity of Blythe.

In the Owens Valley the DFG will release 3,200 pheasants east of Bishop and in the vicinity of Big Pine and Manzanar. Hunters should check with local sporting goods stores and other local sources for information about places to hunt.

The statewide pheasant season which opens Saturday will run through Dec. 8.

In the northern and central parts of the state, hunters are allowed to take male pheasants only, two per day on Nov. 16 and 17. After opening weekend the limit will be increased to four male pheasants per day for the remainder of the season. Hunters may not possess more than two pheasants on opening day. During the remainder of the season the possession limit will be four birds.

In the counties of Mono, Inyo, San Bernardino, Riverside, Imperial, San Diego, Orange, Los Angeles, Ventura, Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo hunters may take either male or female pheasants, two per day on the first two days of the season and four per day for the rest of the season. Possession limit is two birds on opening day, but for the rest of the season hunters may possess up to four birds.

Shooting hours for pheasants are from 8 a.m. to sunset in all areas of the state.

In counties where hunters are permitted to take birds of either sex, the releases will be equally divided between hen and roosters.

Most of the birds will be released on farms and ranch lands which will be open to hunters through agreements with the landowners. The department reminds hunters that continuation of this program is dependent to a great extent upon the cooperation of these property owners.

"Hunters should observe all the safety rules and be considerate of property owners as well as other hunters," says Robert Montgomery, DFG regional manager for Southern California.

Montgomery also had these reminders:

"Don't hunt near residences or buildlings of any kind. It's unsafe and furthermore it's illegal.

Montgomery also reminded hunters that they must have a valid hunting license and $2 pheasant stamp. Licenses and stamps can be purchased at nearly all sporting goods stores and at all Department of fish and Game offices.

Pomona AYSO races tight after three leaders lose

By ADRIAN MERCADO
P-B Correspondent

Three League leaders of the Pomona American Youth Soccer Organization (AYSO) dropped their games and as a result races tightened up at the end of the sixth week of play.

In Division I, the Pomona Police Assn. Rangers behind good teamwork and the nifty shooting of Mike Fox and Garry Bibbee outscored the Gunners 4-1. The Aztecs took advantage of the situation and blanked the Panthers 2-0 on two second-half goals by Santos Franco and Roberto Cortez. Rounding of First Division activity, the Cobras dimmed the Stars by a score of 4-0 with Rick O'Shay booting in two goals and Greg Schneider and Jim King adding to the score.

The Eastern Airlines Wings came back in the second half to score two goals to hand the Pomona 1st Federal Association Thunderibrds their first loss of the season in Division II by a score of 2-1. The Thunderbirds led at the close of the first half by a score of 1-0 on a shot by Ricky Garcia, but the Wings' Steven Mercado came back, behind a charged-up team, to score the tieing and winning goals in the second half.

The Cal Poly Optimist Roadrunners also hustled to defeat the second-place Pomona Service Center Torpedos 3-2. The game was tied at half-time with Buddy Overby scoring twice for the Roadrunners and Trevor Jordan and Charles Hayes tallying for the Torpedos. Willie Preska's late goal, however proved to be the winning margin.

In other games, the Kings outscored the Chargers 5-2 on a three-goal "hat trick" by Sam Stavros and singles by Bret Boettcher and Guy Kopf; Mike Piesik did all the scoring by the Chargers. After playing to a scoreless first half tie the Sergeant's Concrete Palominos came back like a ball of fire to blank the Tigers 4-0; John Matson (2), Danny Holloway, and Brad Wallace did the Palomino scoring.

Pomona Valley Datsun Kestrels behind a tight defense and a goal by Perry Jenkins handed the Pomona Police Relief Assn. Renegades their first loss in the Blue League, 1-0, and thus tighten the race in that league.

The Southwest Concrete's David Wilber scored a "hat trick" to give his team a 3-0 victory over the Pomona Optimist Sharks and a first place tie in the Blue League.

Jon Marker's "hat trick" and Darrin Brauliks two additional goals proved to be too much for the Mustangs as the Marauders outdistanced them 5-1; Brian Rusler was the lone Mustang scorer.

Chris Urgeleit and Kenny Chappel scored in the first half and Eric Hart tallied in the second half to give the Wildcats a 3-2 victory over the Hawks; Roy Botsford and Thomas Leach did the Hawk scoring.

In Division III, the Kiwis beat the Ravens 4-1 on three goals by C. Scott and M. Sims as Mike Muchmore tallied for the Ravens. Chuck Lavrusky's two tallies and Gary Mastney's single were more than enough for he KSOM Kickers to blank the Cougars 3-0.

The Pomona Optimist Jackrabbits leading from the start beat the Steelers, 3-1, on two goals by J. Carey and J. Excell; Joey Morehouse avoided the shutout by booting a goal before the game ended. The Bombers bombed the Dolphins 5-0 on a "hat trick" by Steve Blaine and a pair of goals by Rufus Nelson. The Pom. Police Assn. Eagles remained the only team with a perfect record by shutting out the Streakers 2-0 in a hard fought game. Jerry Duffy opened the scoring and Michael Richards added the insurance goal. The Bond Trucking Co. Cheetahs and the Pumas dueled to a 1-1 tie; Derek Lerma tallied for the Pumas and Mike Rafferty was the Cheetah sharpshooter.

In girl's Division I play the Pomona Soccerettes defeated the Upland Cheetahs 2-1 on single goal-scoring boots by Tammy Marker and Debby Dominquez.

Local teams roll up wins

Both Diamond Bar-Walnut entries in Junior All-American youth football competition hit the win column this past weekend.

The Diamond Bar-Walnut Cowboys Pee Wee team posted a tough 12-0 playoff game against the Duarte Gorillas while the Cowboys' Jr. Pee Wee squad routed Charter Oak 26-0.

The Pee Wee Cowboys used second-half touchdowns by Jim Manchip and Kurt Garrard to upend Duarte and advance to the San Gabriel Valley Pee Wee semi-finals. The locals will face Rowland Saturday at Hoover High in Glendale at 11 a.m. Both teams enter Saturday's Pee Wee playoff contest with records of 8-0.

In Junior Pee Wee action, the Cowboys completed their third straight undefeated season in the Desert League with the easy win over Charter Oak.

A balanced Cowboy attack had 143 yards rushing and 126 passing in the victory. Kevin Howell caught two Td passes for the locals, while Glen Echols ran 48 yards with a screen pass and Mike Wilcut burst 34 yards up the middle to complete Cowboy scoring.

Chino Boosters meeting tonight

There will be a general meeting of the Chino High Sports Boosters at 8 p.m. this evening at the Richard Gird Elementary School multi-purpose room.

Discussions of the club's operations will be featured along with preparations for the junior varisty and varsity fall awards events.

YMCA plans cage league

A Biddy-Basketball League is now being formed by the Pomona YMCA.

Tryouts for boys interested in participating will be held Nov. 23, with league play starting Dec. 7, according to Dennis Palmer, Y program director.

The program is for boys seven to 12 years old, with one league slated for those seven through nine, another for 10 through 12 year olds.

Cost of the program is $2.50 for members and $9.50 for non-members. Further information may be obtained by calling the Y at 623-6433.

Carling Brewing Co. quits NASCAR circuit

RONDA, N.C. (UPI) — The Carling Brewing Co. has decided not to renew its contract with Junior Johnson and Cale Yarborough and will quit the NASCAR Grand National Stock Car Circuit after the Times 500 in Ontario, Nov. 24, it was announced Wednesday.

However, Earl Ross, who has garaged his car with Johnson's Wilkes County Shop, will continue to drive for Carling next year on short tracks in Canada and the northern United States.

"This is a tremendous shock," said Johnson. "We'll have to go back to making our own deals."

The contract between himself, Yarborough and the firm ran from July 1 to Nov. 1 and had been expected to be renewed for three years, he said. Johnson said the firm agreed to extend the contract through the Times event, the final event of the season.

Diamond Bar-Walnut AYSO

Rowdy Raiders battle Chino Aztecs to 1-1 tie

The Rowdy Raiders, a Diamond Bar-Walnut American Youth Soccer Organization (AYSO) Division I girls team, battled the Chino Aztecs to a 1-1 tie.

In Division II action, Karen Hanks fired a breakaway goal to enable the Redskins to tie the Broncos, 1-1, despite fine play by the Broncos' Angie Raya, Jaime Kindt and Debbie Flint.

Paula Huntley tallied three goals to lead the Pintos over the Silver Spurs, 3-1, in Division III action. Linda Himes had the only goal for the Spurs.

In Senior Division action of boys' play, the Aztecs dropped a 6-2 decision to La Mirada on Saturday and came back Sunday to edge Cypress, 4-3, behind the play of Jeff Shuler and goalminder Vince Caballero.

Lester McLea scored twice and had three assists as the Division Mustangs trounced Ontario 5-1. Mark Cox paced the Mustang defense.

The Pioneers nipped the runnerup Gunslingers, 2-1, to hang on to first place in Division II. Rocky Crisp, Phil Powers and Richard Gardner combined to throttle the Gunslinger offense.

The Bruins moved into first place in the Blue Division of Division III play as they edged the Renegades 2-1 on a pair of goals by Ricky James. The Red Devils lost to the Night Hawks.

Heavyweights in Olympic tiff

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Heavyweights Howard Smith and Raul Gorsito meet in a 10-round bout at the Olympic Auditorium tonight.

Smith, the California heavyweight champion, is 19-1 with 15 knockouts. Gorsito, of New York, is 16-6-1. Gorsito is a late substitution for Frank Steele, who suffered a sprained ankle in training.

Lightweights Randy Shields and Roy Holloway, both of Los Angeles, meet in a co-main event. Shields is 15-0 with 10 knockouts, while Holloway is 9-2.

Bucks drop 10th straight

By United Press International

It was a game between two teams with troubles and apparently the Detroit Pistons have a lot less problems than the Milwaukee Bucks.

Bob Lanier, taking advantage of the absence of Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, scored 40 points Wednesday night to lead the Pistons to a 98-91 victory over the Bucks. It was Milwaukee's 10th straight loss and 12th in 13 games. Lanier also grabbed 24 rebounds and blocked six shots.

"I don't know how long yet on Jabbar," said Bucks Coach Larry Costello of his superstar. "I can't even see him coming back soon. This is my most frustrating stretch as a coach or a player. We gave it everything we had. We just couldn't handle Lanier. He killed us. He scored, rebounded, and blocked our shots."

Jabbar, who suffered a broken hand when he punched a basket support in anger in pre-season, is working out some and taking treatment but his right hand is still swollen and doctors say he can't play until the swelling disappears. They estimate about another week.

"We haven't played a good game since (beating) Boston," Scott said. "The problem is we're just not winning enough games. We're not playing with any consistency. We can't go back to the level of excellence we had last year. The other teams have improved. The whole league's moved to a higher level and we've got to, too.

"Teams are prepared for us now. We've got to be up for every game. They know we're legitimate contenders and they can't come into Detroit and just go through the motions and expect to win."

Bob Dandridge led Milwaukee with 28 points.

In other National Basketball Association games, Washington crushed Kansas City-Omaha 118-81, Phoenix downed Philadelphia 105-100 and Seattle stopped Los Angeles 108-103.

Bulletts 118, Kings 81

Phil Chenier had 25 points and Elvin Hayes 21 as Washington cruised past KC-Omaha. The Bullets had 37 points in the third period to break open the game. Nate Archibald led the Kings with 16.

Suns 105, 76ers 100

Charlie Scott's 41 points carried Phoenix past Philadelphia. Following Scott in the Suns' scoring were Curtis Perry with 18 and Dick Van Arsdale with 14. Six 76ers scored in double figures, led by Doug Collins, who came off the bench to get 20.

Sonics 108, Lakers 103

Guards Archie Clark and Fred Brown combined for 44 points in leading the Sonics to their fourth straight victory, a triumph over Los Angeles. They scored 15 of Seattle's 25 fourth quarter points. The Lakers, who lost their fourth straight, were led by Pat Riley's 25 points.

Bugner meets Seattle fighter

LONDON (UPI) — European Heavyweight champion Joe Bugner, who decisively outpointed Jimmy Ellis last Tuesday, will fight 30-year-old Boone Kirkman of Seattle in a ten-rounder at London's Royal Albert Hall December 3, promoter Mike Barrett said today.

Immodest youths scandalize devout

JERUSALEM (UPI) — The last Arab ruler of the ancient walled city of Jerusalem was King Hussein of Jordan. Successive resolutions in the United Nations since 1967 have named him still as its rightful custodian, although it has been totally integrated into the State of Israel since the 1967 war.

Under Jordanian rule, Jerusalem was a rather remote spot. It was difficult for casual travelers to go there, so it was reasonably certain that the foreigners who did find their way to the Via Dolorosa and the Holy Sepulchre were genuine pilgrims.

Now barriers are down between the Holy City and the Israeli Kubbutzim society, and the paved streets throng with young, irreligious Jews and the vagabond youth of many nations.

The Catholic bishop of Jordan, Bishop Naameh Sima'an, disagrees:

"It's all very well for the Israelis to talk of protecting the holy sites. But they are turning them into museums. The living Christian communities in Jerusalem are Arab. Since the Israelis took over the congregations of every Christian church have fallen.

"One of the problems about being a caretaker of a religious shrine is that you must know what religion means. Over 80 per cent of the population are atheistic Jews who don't even practice Judaism. If they don't respect their own faith, how can they safeguard someone else's."

When I last visited the Old City, I was taken on a tour of the walls by an English archaeologist friend. Overlooking the Western (wailing) wall and the Dome of the Rock, the two most important Jewish and Islamic shrines in Jerusalem, we watched bulldozers and mechanical diggers at work. They were tearing away the topsoil to reveal the level of Herod's city.

"Never has Jerusalem been excavated the way it is being excavated today," said the guide, waving at the scene of demolition.

"Never has Jerusalem been destroyed the way it is being destroyed today," commented my archaeologist friend.

Later he said similar excavations had taken place in the garden of the Armenian convent. He said Israeli archaeologists there had been in such a hurry they bulldozed through the foundations of a Byzantine church that was discovered too late to be even properly recorded for history.

MIAs protest on lawn of White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As demonstrators picketed, the wives of three men missing in Southeast Asia read the names of 1,300 servicemen classified as missing in action and tossed a carnation for each of them over a fence onto the White House lawn.

The demonstration, held by about 300 families and friends of the MIAs, came shortly after the Supreme Court upheld a New York court decision ordering the Defense Department to give families of MIA's advance notice and an opportunity to respond before declaring any missing men dead.

The group also threw two extra flowers on the lawn —one for President Ford and the other for Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger —who they said had ignored pleas to come up with a full accounting of the missing men.

Actually, the title of our ad is slightly deceptive. FREE CHECKING ACCOUNTS are going to be around for a while (but a GOOD THING can't last forever). On the other hand, Chino Valley Bank has already established a lot of GOOD THINGS that will last forever.

Look at it this way: Chino Valley Bank will always have Drive-Up Service (three lanes wide), Walk-Up Windows, extended banking hours 8:30 AM to 5:30 PM, and Saturday banking 9:00 AM to 1 PM.

And don't forget – your bankers at Chino Valley Bank understand the financial needs of the people in the Chino Valley. Come in and see us for your financial assistance – auto loans, property improvement loans, business loans . . . or just about anything else.

So don't let all those GOOD THINGS get away from you.
It's "Time to Grow" with Chino Valley Bank.

Manslaughter for seven in hazing death

LONG BRANCH, N.J. (UPI) — Seven Monmouth College students Tuesday were charged with manslaughter in the hazing death of a student who plunged head-first into a sand "grave" he dug as part of a fraternity initiation, police said.

Police said William Flowers, 19, of Neptune, was digging a six-foot grave on the beach early Tuesday and fell headfirst into the hole.

The six-foot-four-inch youth was pledging for the Zeta Beta Tau fraternity at Monmouth College.

"He must have been in there digging and the sand caved in on him," a police spokesman said. "The other boys attempted to pull him out and then contacted police."

The spokesman said the youth's body was found about 1:15 a.m. by police with his knees and legs sticking out of the sand.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Monmouth Medical Center.

"It was part of their initiation night," the police spokesman said. "The boys had to dig six graves in the sand."

Ex-Ford aide says he must 'take charge'

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) — President Ford must decide he is not just a member of Congress and begin performing like a President, his former news secretary said Tuesday night.

"He's going to have to seize the reins of government even though he has a natural inclination not to step forward and take charge," Jerald F. terHorst said.

"Congress is waiting to be led —despite all the rumblings — and is going to need to be, if problems facing this country are to be worked out."

TerHorst described Ford as a "decent and honest individual who is not stupid. If he has a problem it is in the area of judgment only."

FIAT 128 Sedan

#128A1819319

Only the designing ingenuity and engineering excellence of FIAT could have produced this incredible sub-compact: FIAT 128. The economy car that offers all the advantages of smallness with none of the disadvantages. It's shorter in length than VW — but it's bigger inside. That's the result of mounting the front-wheel drive engine transversely so that it occupies just 20% of the total interior — leaving fully 80% for passenger room and a 13 cu. ft. trunk. The 4 door model has the same interior and exterior dimensions.
And space isn't the only advantage.
Discover why the FIAT 128 has won more international Car-Of-The-Year awards in Europe than any other car in history.

STANDARD EQUIPMENT INCLUDES:

FIAT X 1/9

This is the spectacular, advanced, in-a-class-by-itself, mid-engine FIAT X 1/9. The car of the future. Now. The product of three-quarters in a century of FIAT experience and excellence. No car in its field has ever been accorded a more approving reception by independent experts. Every major motor car publication has reviewed it, acclaimed it and recommended it not only as a resounding styling successive performer and a superlative value as well. The body is the creation of Nuccio Bertone, the designer of many of the most renowned and respected sports cars in the world. Discover a new star of the first magnitude. Discover the brilliant FIAT X 1/9.

STANDARD EQUIPMENT INCLUDES:
● 1290 cc Mid Engine ● 4-speed Trans. ● 4-Wheel Disc Brakes ● Dual Brake System ● Radial-Ply Tires ● Rack and Pinion Steering ● Unitized Body Construction including Roof Rollbar ● Electronic Tachometer ● Removable Roof ● Flow-Through Ventilation.
